FISHERMEN FIGHT NEW B.C. CANNERY REGULATIONS

Tolmie Triumphs As Bennett Backs Down On Treaty

First Public Intimation of Victory of Provincial Conservative Group Over Dominion Opposition on Sockeye Salmon Issue Made by Ottawa Leader in Speech at Royal Theatre Meeting Last Night; Premier Tolmie, C. H. Dickie and D. B. Plunkett Also Spoke.

Premier Tolmie and his Ministers won out last night when Hon. R. B. Bennett, Dominion Conservative leader, at the Royal Victoria Theatre and before the microphone, gracefully backed down on his opposition to the Sockeye Salmon Treaty, which has been urged by the British Columbia Government.

The briefly worded retreat of Mr. Bennett came at the public meeting at the theatre, and after the two groups—the Dominion Conservatives and the Provincial Conservatives—had been in session during the last two days at the Parliament Buildings.

Seated in the front row at the side of Mr. Bennett when he retreated last night was D. B. Plunkett, M.P. for Victoria, who, after opposing the treaty last year sought by his own province and who had come into a clash with provincial Conservatives, suddenly found himself left high and dry on the issue.

Mr. Plunkett spoke during the evening, but did not refer at all to the salmon treaty, although it has been the one chief subject in all his speeches since he returned from Ottawa.

Hon. S. L. Howe, British Columbia Commissioner of Fisheries, who has been leading the fight for the British Columbia cause since he clashed with Mr. Bennett at the time of the latter's Prince Rupert speech last summer, was seated prominently on the stage with other members of the Provincial Cabinet, to hear Mr. Bennett's back down.

"NEVER ANY DOUBT," HE SAYS
Mr. Bennett introduced the subject of the salmon treaty by talking in a general way about the fact that the making of treaties lies with the federal government, and declared that "it was important that a treaty, which is a contract between nations and involves the honor of the respective nations, should leave no doubt or ambiguity in the minds of either party as to its intent and meaning."

"There was never any doubt as to the desirability of a treaty on the part of the Conservative Party," Mr. Bennett went on. "Sir Robert Borden had proposed such a treaty and during the time of the Borden Government there was a treaty submitted, but it was rejected not by the Conservative Government or party, but by the United States."

FIRE FIGHTERS SUFFER FROM FROSTY WORK

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Jan. 15.—One fireman was injured and forty others suffered from freezing of their faces, hands or feet here last night while fighting a spectacular blaze which swept through the Western Canada Box Company's factory and caused damage estimated at between $20,000 and $30,000.

Thirty-five below zero weather prevailed at the time of the fire and nearly every one of the firemen suffered from frost bites. Water from the turret nozzle fell to the ground on the far side of the building as pieces of ice about the size of five-cent pieces.

Fireman R. P. Hobbs was struck in the thigh when a heavy nozzle "snaked." He was thrown to the ground and needed medical attention.

$1,000 REWARD FOR RESCUE OF SCHOONER AND CAPTAIN

Canadian Press

St. John's, Nfld., Jan. 16.—For one little schooner and its captain who were lost last December are not yet over. For a month she has been drifting helplessly somewhere on the Atlantic, her captain wrestled by his lone battle to bring the battered vessel to port.

Now the Newfoundland Government is offering a reward of $1,000 to the officer of any ship who will go aboard the schooner Neptune and bring her safely into a Newfoundland port. The announcement of the reward was broadcast by radio yesterday in the hope some ship would pause in its passage long enough to bring hope and a victory over the sea to the craft's

SKATERS GO THROUGH ICE AT PORTAGE

G. Marsh of Stobie, Forlong Company Smashes Way to Safety at Inlet

Two Ladies Saved By Ernest Jealousie; Another Skater Goes in Up to Neck

Four skaters went through the ice at Portage Inlet during the last two days and plunged into the chilly water. Portage Inlet is at the head of the George waters and is attracting many skaters.

Glen Morris, manager of the Victoria office of Stobie, Forlong and Company, stock brokers, Tuesday night was tempted by the smooth sheet of ice stretching out in the moonlight, and skated off it, away from the crowd. Suddenly he found himself in the cold water, and fighting to keep himself on the surface. The ice around the hole into which he had gone was not strong enough to hold him and he started breaking his way through the ice towards shore. He yelled for help, but was too far away from the other skaters to be heard. For fifteen minutes he kept on breaking through the ice to get near shore, and then he found himself getting numb and losing strength. He was still far from shore, and as a final effort turned his direction. Instinctively he kept cutting a path through the ice, until suddenly he became conscious that he was standing upright well out of the water.

TEN CHILDREN ARE BLINDED BY CLINIC ERROR

Wrong Liquid Used in Athens; Inquiry Will Find If Doctors to Blame

Canadian Press

Athens, Jan. 16.—The Ministry of Health of Greece, to-day issued a statement that ten children had been blinded at the state clinic in Kalamaria, apparently through the use of an injurious preparation instead of a mild eye-wash. It was denied there were forty cases as was reported in London.

The Ministry further announced a searching inquiry was in progress to ascertain whether all had been lost. But one of the clinic's doctors was responsible for the tragic cases.

The London Daily Express reported forty children were blinded at an eye clinic in Kalamaria, near Athens, Greece, because attending mistook a powerful cauterizing fluid for a medicinal syringe fluid.

The children had been taken to the clinic to have their sight tested. They were placed in a room where other patients had been treated for various infectious diseases. It was feared each of the little victims had been blinded permanently, said the report.

Athens was described as in an uproar over the incident, with the attitude of the populace so menacing the Minister of Health had to order prosecution of all oculists concerned in the administration of the clinic.

SHOT FIRED IN TERMINAL CITY IS MYSTERY

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 16.—Police are attempting to uncover the mystery behind the firing of a shot shortly after 10 o'clock this morning through the window of the office of the Northern Assurance Company Limited, on the second floor of the Royal Trust Building on West Pender Street here.

The bullet shattered the heavy window glass, shattering splinters for several feet. E. L. Morley, chief clerk, and two women employees were standing nearby at the time, but escaped injury. The lead was not found.

Officers who investigated were of the opinion the shot was fired from the building of a twenty-mile railway and a 4,000-ton concentrator.

COLDER WEATHER COMING

Mercury Touches New Low For Year of Fifteen Degrees To-day

Eighteen Degrees of Frost in Vancouver To-day

With the mercury still on the downward grade and a stiff northerly wind blowing, the weather forecast of the Dominion Meteorological Service to-day was for lower temperatures during the next thirty-six hours.

Fifteen degrees, the coldest temperature of the present frost spell, was recorded at Gonzales Observatory this morning at 8 o'clock. It rose to 20 degrees at 11 o'clock but another big drop to-night was expected.

WIND SPREADS TROUBLE

A howling northeast wind which at times reached a velocity of thirty-two to forty miles an hour brought frozen pipes and radiators to many homes overnight. F. Napier Denison, superintendent of Gonzales Observatory, predicted relief from the wind during the day.

While Victorians tightened their overcoats another notch as the cold spell increased its intensity, other cities on the coast were suffering even worse temperatures. Vancouver had 18 degrees of frost this morning and New Westminster 19 degrees, while in Seattle the mercury was down to 22 and in Portland 20 degrees.

The Fraser River was freezing over at New Westminster, it was reported. Courtenay, Vancouver Island, reported 2 degrees below zero at 8:30 o'clock this morning.

FREIGHT RATE APPEAL OF B.C. HEARD TO-DAY

Equalization Arguments Laid Before Cabinet at Ottawa By Ladner

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—Removal of the mountain differential in freight rates on domestic freight rates on grain and flour, adjustments of terminal freight rates and decrease of rates on fruit and vegetables—all these found places in the arguments submitted this morning to the Privy Council of Canada by Leon J. Ladner, K.C., M.P.

Mr. Ladner was appearing for the Province of British Columbia in the western rate appeal against an order of the Board of Railway Commissioners dated August 26, 1927. With him in his appeal are associated the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan, although the submissions are not identical. These two western as well as other provinces, are represented by counsel and will be heard. The railways also are represented.

SPEED NEEDED

Mr. Ladner occupied the entire morning and went on again this afternoon. As Premier King suggested that, in view of the press of work due to the coming session of Parliament, the proceedings should be expedited, it is probable there will be a sitting this evening.

Members of the Government present this morning, in addition to the Prime Minister, were: Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance; Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice; Hon. J. C. Eliott, Minister of Public Works; Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Pensions and National Health; Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General; and Hon. W. D. Ruler, Minister of Customs.

Eielson Reported Near River In Siberia And Search Parties Sent

Canadian Press

Moscow, Jan. 16.—A report that Carl Ben Eielson and his mechanic, Earl Borland, are near the River Anguena, in northern Siberia, was received by the Soviet Government to-day. Although it was not confirmed, the Soviet authorities ordered a dogged expedition to the place.

The Soviet Arctic Commission in Moscow, which has been in charge of the Russian efforts to find the fliers, was notified to-day that its radio station at Anadyr, Siberia, had received a report January 14 that Eielson and Borland had landed near the river Anguena.

INFORMED BY LETTER

This report came from radio operator Kyrienko at Pinkigny, who said he had received a letter dated December 30 from Cape Weller, reporting the missing aviators.

Despite the lack of confirmation of this report, the Government gave immediate instructions to Captain Milov, now marooned in the ice near North Cape, to dispatch a dogged expedition to the area in question and to search for the missing United States fliers.

TO USE PLANES
Instructions also were given to the Soviet fliers Gladyshev and Stopyan, who are now in the region of Cape Providence, to join in the search by aeroplane.

House Committee Considers Bills to Restrict Western Hemisphere Immigration

Canadian Press

Washington, Jan. 16.—Hearings were started to-day by the House immigration committee which may give a new picture of conditions along the Canadian and Mexican borders, thereby providing information for the working out of proposals by President Hoover for strengthening the law enforcement structure.

Although the committee was considering principally the Johnson and Box bills to restrict immigration from countries of the Western Hemisphere, which Chairman Johnson of the committee to-day said were designed to place this class of immigration on a new basis, it was said at the Capitol this work might facilitate the administration's recommendations.

APPROVAL VOICED

At the suggestion of Representative Box, ranking Democrat of the committee, memorials from various state legislatures and other messages approving the plan to restrict immigration from countries of this hemisphere were placed in the record.

A telegram from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, stating his organization was in favor of limiting immigration not affected by the Immigration Act of 1924 was then read into the record.

On motion of Representative Schneider, Republican, Wisconsin, the committee decided to hold the Labor Day celebration for a report on the unemployment of Americans in farm regions.

Cold Weather Brings Heavy Work For Members of Fire Department

Two serious outbreaks of fire and thirteen other minor blazes have been handled in Victoria and vicinity during the last twenty-four hours, the greater number being due to excessive stoking on account of the cold weather.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Crowe at Cordova Bay was totally destroyed yesterday afternoon, the loss being estimated at about $4,500. Practically the whole top-story of the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Crookston, 1234 Johnson Street, was gutted this morning.

Other calls attended by the Victoria fire department during the last twenty-four hours are:

COUNCIL OF LEAGUE ENDS ITS SESSION

Delegates Leave Geneva to Attend London Naval Limitation Conference

Canadian Press

Geneva, Jan. 16.—The fifty-eighth session of the Council of the League of Nations was adjourned this morning shortly after the delegates had convened for the morning meeting. Many delegates were in a hurry to leave Geneva to attend the forthcoming Naval Limitation Conference at London.

President Zaleski, in his closing address, contrasted the early struggles of the League with the task it faced to-day. "While some of us then hoped against hope, we now believe because we know," he said.

Throughout the session of the Council, which was one of the shortest in its history, it was apparent the members were pre-occupied with the coming London conference and wished very much to avoid any subject which might give rise to conflict and delay their adjournment.

Accomplishments of the Council session were three:

First—Selection of a committee of eleven to draft changes in the covenant of the League of Nations to bring it into conformity with the Briand-Kellogg Pact and ban aggressive wars altogether.

Saskatoon Men Fight Fire In Biting Cold

Canadian Press

Saskatoon, Jan. 16.—This city to-day counted losses of $100,000 after its worst winter fire of years. At 3 o'clock this morning the firemen succeeded, after a fierce battle, in controlling the flames which earlier had threatened an entire city block on the main street.

Four business places of frame construction fell prey to the flames. Nothing was salvaged. The places destroyed were a photography studio, a jewelry store, a hat cleaners' place and a real estate office.

The Bank of Nova Scotia building, of brick construction, was slightly damaged.

COLD WORK

The fire broke out at midnight from unknown origin and gained quick headway. With the thermometer registering forty below zero, water poured on the buildings froze quickly. Firemen, with their bodies a mass of ice, fought bravely to subdue the flames, concentrating on preventing the fire from spreading to adjacent buildings.

Partial insurance was carried.

BANKER FORECASTS TREND IN CANADA FOR SIX MONTHS SEES LEVELING-OFF TIME

Toronto, Jan. 16.—"I do not think that there will be a very brisk period of business for at least the next six months," a prominent Toronto banker informed The Financial Post. "The effects of the decline in the stock market are not over yet. There will be a considerable period of adjustment—a sort of settling-down or leveling-off—until such time as we can get some idea of the 1930 crop and what it will be like."

"We are still dependent on the wheat crop, now more than ever, and I look for such dependence to last a long time. Canada will continue to be a member of the group of nations which feed the rest of the world for years to come."

"As to the stock market, I do not look for any very rapid rise in security prices. Canadian business is sound, though, and on a solid footing. There will not, in my opinion, be anything spectacular in the first six months of the new year. I do not believe, however, that anyone can look ahead of the crop. The banks have done well, and no doubt will continue so but doubt if the banking business for the first part of 1930 will show any great increase over that of the same period in 1929."

"Altogether, I look for a quiet half-year with business keeping normal, or perhaps a little above or below normal. I feel certain that there will be no startling events of any kind in the business or financial world. It will be a period of rest, leading, possibly, to a more prosperous and active state of affairs in the latter half of the year."

He read the full record in the Congressional papers at Washington by which the treaty was now to be returned for consideration.

"At the instance of the Senate there, the treaty has been referred back to the President, and when it is finally settled, I am satisfied that it will command the support of all parties in Canada and in the United States," Mr. Bennett said.

Mr. Bennett went on to say that Premier Mackenzie King had been asking to drive a wedge between the Conservative Dominion opposition and the Provincial Conservative Government over this issue, and had announced that he would not touch the treaty without the support of the representatives of B.C., and until they expressed the desire to have it taken up.

RECONCILIATION NOW

"The members from B.C. were practically all Conservatives, and now this device has failed because the Conservative Party always was actuated by the motive of doing what was best for Canada, and possessed a breadth of vision which has now reconciled any divergent views," said Mr. Bennett.

Mr. Bennett's speech, outside of the salmon treaty backdown, was somewhat of a repetition of the speeches he delivered in this area last summer. Last night, however, he did not even mention the Australian Trade Treaty on which he spent much time during his summer visit.

SPEECH DISAPPOINTS

Many who attended the meeting expecting striking announcements from Mr. Bennett as he started for Ottawa for the opening of the next session of the House of Commons, expressed themselves afterwards as disappointed to hear only a routine party speech.

TOLMIE'S PROBLEMS

Mr. Bennett, in opening thanked Victoria for "the magnificent service it rendered to Canada when it returned Mr. Plunkett to Ottawa at the by-election" and paid tribute to the Victoria Conservative's earnestness and sincerity.

Proceeding, he said he wondered if the people of British Columbia realized the difficulties Dr. Tolmie faced when he entered office. Mr. Bennett claimed the Province's finances were in bad condition, the civil service was disrupted through appointments being made without regard to the law, the problem of the P.O.E. had to be faced, and Dr. Tolmie was striving to bring order out of chaos. When they reviewed what he had done and realized what he had accomplished, the criticism which they sometimes made would be shelved in view of the way he had faced his great task.

Mr. Bennett spoke of his association at Ottawa with Dr. Tolmie, and claimed the talents which had made him a valued man in the Dominion capital would be brought to bear in provincial politics to the great advantage of British Columbia.

The speaker touched on the civil service and advocated a system for Canada based on that of England. Canada should build up a civil service to which men and women should be proud to belong and in which would be employed workers of ability who would be of invaluable assistance in assisting ministers in formulating great policies for the good of Canada.

Proceeding, Mr. Bennett prefaced references to the Sockeye Salmon Treaty with a declaration that no differences existed between Federal and Provincial Conservatives.

FEDERAL GRANTS

Mr. Bennett went on to refer to changing policies of the Government in power at Ottawa, referring to such issues as technical education and the grant of highways in order that the provinces might be able to unite themselves by a great national highway. He quoted the speech of Premier King to the effect that it was "a thoroughly vicious principle" to have one Government raising money and another expending it. This "vicious principle" was applied also to the old-age pensions as well as technical education.

Mr. Bennett criticized Premier King for changing his mind on this policy, after the Government a few years before had adopted such a policy of federal grants for both purposes specified.

Mr. Bennett declared that now that the benefits of technical education were just being understood, the grants are withdrawn.

"We as a party have no hesitation in saying that Canada must not lag behind the race as regards technical education, which has made Germany and the United States the great industrial nations that they are," he said.

A HIGHWAY PLEDGE

"What about the great question of transportation?" asked Mr. Bennett, including automobile transportation. The Liberal Government had voted down the proposal for a national highway across Canada, he charged.

The Conservatives had voted for it. If a Conservative Government were in power he gave a pledge they would put it in effect or perish.

There was also a record on representations to reopen the Pensions Act, Mr. Bennett claimed, on April 30, 1927, which showed every member of the Liberal Government had voted against his (Mr. Bennett's) proposed amendments to the act to give a pensioner the benefit of the doubt in pension consideration and to recognize as the extent of a disability that from which a man was suffering on his discharge, in the absence of evidence of concealment of a disability at the time of enlistment.

Mr. Bennett outlined as a great ambition, the fundamental idea of the Conservative party to stimulate and maintain agriculture and all industries of this country so that all people of Canada would be well and profitably employed and would be able to face old age fearlessly as a result of the provision they had been able to make for themselves.

PROSPERITY AND SOUP KITCHENS

"Steadily without interruption the Conservative party has gone forward on stimulation of production and employment and the building of homes," Mr. Bennett went on.

He asked whether there was unemployment in Victoria. He said that a few weeks ago the Government was asking the people to "look at the prosperity," but at the same time there were soup kitchens in Montreal and Toronto.

Mr. Bennett said that in the last month he had seen young men of hope and ambition forced to go to a soup kitchen.

"Why haven't Canadians the chance to work?" he asked. "It is so easy to answer. It is because we are buying from other countries goods we can make at home and allowing the materials to slip away from us and come back as manufactured goods."

RAW MATERIALS

The products of the farm, sea, mines and forests were being exported in unmanufactured states and the United States was instanced as one of the countries importing raw or partly fabricated products of Canada where it had exhausted its own supply. "Why," Mr. Bennett asked, "should Canada sacrifice its resources instead of manufacturing them itself?"

He stressed asbestos as the greatest loss in this direction, stating that 250,000 men and women in the United States were employed on the fabrication of asbestos which Canada sent to that country.

Increasing numbers of Canadians had been compelled to leave this country as a result of this policy, the speaker contended. The country to the south had been following a policy of high patriotism, concerning itself with building up its own prosperity, trade and commerce, while Canada was holding back on the grounds that it would not do to provoke the United States. Why should Canada not do as the United States was doing and bear first in mind its own progress, properity and trade? the speaker inquired. Mr. Bennett declared Canada's present policy was forcing Canadians across the line to the United States. Canada, Mr. Bennett protested, was increasing its dependence on its neighbor to the south year by year.

TARIFF IS THE INSTRUMENT

"We are making it easier for our people to become the hewers of wood and drawers of water to the people to the south," Mr. Bennett went on. "The women are those who will decide election in the future and what do they desire, but work and opportunity for their children?"

He said that the United States seventy-five years ago was confronted by the same situation as Canada is today. He declared that Canada now had an instrument which would enable Canadians to work upon Canadian materials—the tariff.

NOT INSTRUMENT FOR EXPLOITATION

"I don't want you to think of the tariff as legislation to enable manufacturers to exploit the people or to make manufacturers rich, but as an instrument to enable Canadians to work on Canadian materials and ship them to the four corners of the world. My tariff is an instrument to afford us an equal chance with the other peoples of the world to develop Canada. Every term in this tariff should be considered from one point of view, and that is the welfare of Canadians."

NOT CONCERNED ABOUT U.S.

"I'm not concerned about what the United States does, except to the extent it may serve me as a guide. My purpose is to think in terms of Canada and Canadians. We will continue to urge the Parliament of Canada to think in terms of Canada. I ask you to think in these terms and it is the duty of those in Parliament to see to it that laws are enacted that will enable Canadians to compete in the markets of the world."

TOURIST TRADE MOST IMPORTANT

"It is so simple. We have the power."

Mr. Bennett went on to say that the tourist trade meant more to Canada than any other item. He said this last year meant $400,000,000 to Canada.

Mr. Bennett spoke of the British Empire and the constitutional position of Canada as a people standing alone.

He touched on the problem of how these units of an Empire built up by such endeavor and sacrifice could be made into a self-contained economic people remarking that he had offered the proposal at Ottawa to call an economic conference with this end in view but Canada had sent no invitation. The conference, however, was to be held, but not in Canada. They should strive to work out a policy by which they could co-ordinate economically and constitutionally difficulties of governing an empire would pass away, said Mr. Bennett, in dealing with talk of disintegration of the Empire and quoting a circular of an advertised Montreal meeting which declared that Canada must become a republic.

NO WAR BUT THE TARIFF

He also referred to Mr. Pattullo's statement in the newspapers to the effect that he was going to make mincemeat of the Conservative Government at the session of the Legislature, about to commence. He said that Mr. Pattullo seemed to be something of a "sausage maker" and that he and his associates had made quite a "hash" of affairs in British Columbia, and had left quite a burden on the doorstep when they went out of office.

D. B. Plunkett, M.P. for Victoria, took up some of the questions which came before the House of Commons last session, such as technical education and highways. He repeated the speech on these two questions which he gave last week before a Conservative ward club at Conservative headquarters here.

opening of the Pensions Act for men who suffered in the war. He also repeated the proposal of Mr. Bennett for an Empire Trade Conference.
"It was fifty-two years ago that Sir John A. Macdonald represented this city and that great national policy of protection was cradled in this city," Mr. Plunkett said. "We want to bring our policies to an end and that we form a more united and prosperous country."

MR. DICKIE SEES HARMONY
Mr. Dickie welcomed the opportunity of speaking to the members of his constituency who were in the audience. Time had passed and the party made no mistake when it nominated Mr. Bennett as leader of the Conservative Party. Mr. Bennett had been indefatigable in traversing the Dominion from end to end to acquaint himself with the viewpoint of all the people in Canada. He had agreed to devote his life to Canada to see if he could not make it a national success such as he had made of his own personal and public life.

When they had heard the speaker of the evening he said they would be convinced there was no dissension between Federal and Provincial Conservatives.

"No sockeye salmon diverged across the trail is going to divert any number of the Party away from the aim, we have in view that of making Canada the great country she is designed by providence to become," said Mr. Dickie.

They were not dumb cattle to blindly follow the dictates of one man in Ottawa or otherwise. Mr. Dickie said, and proceeded again to declare that there were no differences in the Federal and Provincial parties.

"We are one hundred per cent behind Dr. Tolmie," said the speaker. We remember the difficulties he faced in coming into power after ten or twelve years in the cool shadows of opposition. He predicted that it would not be long before they would be cheering Dr. Tolmie for policies which they might not see the advantage at the present time.

Briefly discussing Canadian trade, Mr. Dickie said Canada had suffered and had for the United States to build up a great favorable balance of trade. No wonder those people were wonderful neighbors, he said. They were laughing at Canada's "stupidity" for creating such a condition, he said.

R. A. Wootton extended a warmest welcome to the audience on behalf of the Victoria Conservative Association. He looked for the time when there would be a new strong and progressive Government at Ottawa with a forceful leader such as Mr. Bennett was at the head.

EXECUTION AT REGINA TO-DAY

Sam Kubutz Hanged For the Murder of D. Bodak in Saskatchewan

Regina, Jan. 16.—Sam Kubutz, convicted of the slaying of Dymitro Bodak, a farmer, near Ituna, Sask., in 1927, was hanged at the Regina jail early to-day. The man made no statement prior to his execution and mounted the scaffold with firm steps. Arthur Ellis acted as hangman. The evidence on which Kubutz was convicted was circumstantial and hinged largely on the identification of underwear belonging to the slain man, for which purpose the widow was brought all the way from Poland to testify.

DRIVER ROBBED OF TAXI AND HIS WATCH AND CASH

Vancouver, Jan. 16.—Tom Diddget, driver for a local taxicab company, was held up last evening and robbed of his automobile, watch and $10 by an armed bandit, he reported to police. Diddget said he picked the man up at the taxi stand and was ordered to drive to a Marpole address. On Seventh Avenue, near the corner of Grandville Street, the passenger suddenly placed a gun against him and ordered him out of the car. After relieving him of his watch and money, the bandit drove away in his automobile. This morning it was still unrecovered.

POLICE SEEKING EX-MAYOR OF STRATFORD, ONT.

Stratford, Ont., Jan. 16.—Alderman Tom Brown, prominent barrister and former mayor of Stratford, who has been missing from the city for several days, is being sought today by police, armed with a warrant charging him with the theft of $3,000 in first-mortgage loan bonds from a client, Andrew Reinhardt, of this city. The information against Brown was laid by Reinhardt when he went to Brown's office and found his safety deposit box open and the bonds gone. Charles White of St. Paul's also found his safety box open and $6,500 in bearer bonds missing.

Nova Scotia's Oldest Editor Called By Death

New Glasgow, N.S., Jan. 16.—The oldest active editor in Nova Scotia, James A. Fraser, owner and publisher of The Eastern Chronicle, died yesterday. He was eighty-eight years of age. Mr. Fraser, a lifelong Liberal, was active in politics, both Provincial and Federal, and also took a deep interest in civic affairs. Twice elected to the Nova Scotia Legislature for Guysboro County, he was an unsuccessful candidate for Dominion House honors. He had served as mayor of New Glasgow.

U.S. Quota For Canada Debated

Washington, Jan. 16.—If legislation should be enacted by Congress to check the flow of immigration from countries of the Western Hemisphere to the United States, the annual quota of Canada would not be materially less than 50,000, in the opinion of Congressman John C. Box of Texas. Bills submitted in the House of Representatives were, he said, merely drafts and working plans which might be modified in committee, and it was his impression the suggested estimate for Canada of 42,000 was more likely to be enlarged than decreased. There was little disposition as far as he knew either in the immigration committee or the House, greatly to reduce immigration from the Dominion.

EARTH SHOCKS IN SOUTH PART OF CALIFORNIA

Los Angeles, Jan. 16.—Southern California, from the Mojave Desert on the north to San Diego on the south, and from the Pacific Ocean as far inland as Indio and Niland in Coachella Valley, was shaken by brief earthquake shocks at 4:25 and 4:35 p.m. yesterday. No damage, other than a few broken dishes and brick-a-brac, and temporary disruption of telephone service in spots, was reported. Communications generally and public utility services were not affected.

The shocks varied in intensity over the affected district, and in the vicinity of Los Angeles and southward, the movement was of a distinct rolling nature, while in the northern mountainous sections the shocks took on sharper, more jolting characteristics. FLAGPOLES SWAYED

In Los Angeles, buildings were rocked perceptibly in a general rolling movement. Flagpoles showed a distinct northeast and southwest sway. No excitement was caused in the city or its environs among a populace inured to earth tremors resulting from not infrequent slight slippings of the several Southern California geological faults. The quake was not felt in Santa Barbara, where in May, 1925, a serious quake occurred, nor in the Owens Valley, site of Los Angeles City's main water supply.

The Mojave Desert, north of Cajon Pass in the San Bernardino Mountain range appeared to have borne the brunt of the shocks without damage. Barstow sustained a rather rugged shaking as did Ludlow, fifty miles to the east. Communication lines remained intact.

In Pomona some dismay was caused when the first shock, which was the stronger of the two, put most of the city's telephones out of commission briefly. The damage was not of a serious physical character, however, and service shortly was restored.

PEOPLE IN STREETS
The shocks were felt generally throughout the San Bernardino Valley, the initial quake being of sufficient intensity to cause an exodus into the streets in the business section of San Bernardino.

Riverside and surrounding territory also appeared to be within the central focus of the earth movement, with the tremors more severe than those felt farther to the south. The centre of the quake, Dr. Harry L. Wood, seismologist of the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, estimates, was approximately 197 miles from Pasadena.

MANITOBA DEBATE

Winnipeg, Jan. 16.—When the Manitoba Legislature meets January 22, the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne will be moved by I. Ingalsdon, member for Gimli, and the seconder will be W. Morton, member for Gladstone. It is announced.

The site of the White House at Washington, D.C., was selected by President Washington and Major Pierre L'Enfant when they laid out the city of Washington in 1791.

UNDERWORLD STRIKES BACK AT COP

From his hospital cot, Police Inspector Henry S. Garvin, above, nemesis of Detroit gangsters, is directing an intensive search for gunmen who attempted to murder him by firing into his auto from a passing car and wounded him seriously. Revenge for Garvin's activities in prosecuting two surviving members of the notorious Javarski "mob" which terrorized Detroit, Cleveland and other cities, is believed to have been the motive. A Detroit schoolgirl is near death as the result of the wounds received when the gangsters riddled Inspector Garvin's auto.

COMMUNISTS IN OUTBREAKS IN GERMANY

Berlin, Jan. 16.—There were violent demonstrations by Communists last night in three districts of Berlin—within the fashionable west section, in the northeast and in the notorious Wedding district in the north.

Following a mass meeting to commemorate the tenth anniversary of the killing of Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg during the post-war endeavor to establish a Communist state in Germany, Communists defied the police prohibition and held a demonstration in the streets.

Police fired in the air and used their batons freely, but were in a difficult position until reinforcements enabled them to clear the streets. Twenty alleged Communists were arrested.

Four deaths were reported in rioting in Hartmannsdorf. In a collision in Magdeburg a policeman was injured and three rioters were arrested. There were also disturbances in several other German cities to-day.

TWO MOTORISTS HEARD

Vancouver, Jan. 16.—Joseph Tilt received a possible fracture of the skull and probable internal injuries, and Charles Leer, fifty-eight, received severe lacerations of the scalp and body bruises when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a street car late last night at the corner of Main Street and National Avenue, according to a police report.

MR. BENNETT'S SPEECH

IF THE VISIBLE AND INVISIBLE AUDIENCES that listened to Hon. R. B. Bennett's speech last night expected the Dominion leader of the opposition to make any sensational pronouncements, they must have been sadly disappointed. In view of the general impression which had got abroad that he had come west on this occasion in order to recover ground he thought he lost when he was here last summer, it had been supposed he would at least put himself definitely and clearly on record with respect to a number of important public issues. Instead of doing so, however, Mr. Bennett obviously preferred to treat most of the controversial matters in a general and indefinite way—with the exception of the Sockeye Salmon Treaty.

In regard to the treaty, Mr. Bennett intimated that after the pact which now is awaiting ratification by the Canadian Parliament and the United States Congress came back for reconsideration with certain changes now being written into its provisions, it would no doubt be adequate for the purpose for which it is intended. We may assume, therefore, that when the time comes to deal with the question, Mr. Bennett and the members of the party he leads will vote for its passage. Among their number, of course, will be Mr. Plunkett, who a short time ago attacked the treaty for all he was worth.

It is obvious from Mr. Bennett's observations about the treaty last night that Dr. Talmie has convinced him that he and his colleagues in the provincial government know what is best for the salmon fishing industry of this province. If the leader of the opposition shall have any suggestions to make for its improvement when it comes before the House of Commons, he may be sure they will be given proper consideration. In the meantime, however, the public will have noted that Mr. Bennett no longer regards the treaty as a "betrayal of Canada's interests."

No doubt many in Mr. Bennett's audience were disappointed that neither the British Preference nor the trade treaties with the Antipodean Dominions and the British West Indies were included among the topics discussed by the opposition leader. As a matter of fact, the only inference to be drawn from the brief reference he made to empire trade was that he has no definite policy on this question. There certainly was nothing new in his assertion that he had suggested an economic conference at Ottawa at which it might be possible to devise ways and means of increasing empire trade. It is difficult, moreover, to reconcile the unfriendliness of himself and his party to the policies of the King government in this regard—policies which already have stimulated intra-empire trade very considerably—with this vague proposal.

Mr. Bennett's references to the export of raw materials and the export of Canadians to the United States are getting a little threadbare now; but he does not seem inclined to revise them at all. He never tells his audience that the neighboring republic exports more raw material proportionately than Canada does, that only a little more than thirty per cent. of Canada's exports leave the country in the raw state. Nor does it suit the book of the leader of the opposition to admit that 1,380,000 Canadians left this Dominion for the United States between 1912 and 1921, the period in which the party Mr. Bennett now leads was in office. It might be inconvenient also for him to admit that while the balance in the exchange of population between this country and the United States was very heavily against us a few years ago, the number of Canadians returning from the republic to resume permanent residence in Canada, together with the number of American citizens who also are coming to make their homes on this side of the line, now is larger than the number of Canadians leaving Canada for the United States. The facts are available for Mr. Bennett to consult.

In the matter of the tariff the opposition leader was not convincing. Even his warmest supporters must have chuckled inwardly when he said he was in favor of a tariff that would not only benefit the producer, but also lower the cost of commodities to the consumer. He did not tell his audience how he proposed to do what no statesman so far has been able to do since the first tariff was devised. He left them to ruminate on a system of protection that would not protect; but he had been assured, he said with considerable enthusiasm, by one manufacturer that if the tariff on his products could be increased, he would at once cut the price to the consumer by ten per cent. We wonder if that manufacturer would enter into a binding engagement to cover such an undertaking.

In the non-controversial realm, of course, Mr. Bennett was much more at ease. We unhesitatingly endorse his advocacy of technical education and we shall hope the Parliament of Canada will renew its grant for the extension of this form of instruction. The opposition leader referred to the great benefit Germany's sons and daughters had derived from technical education, how the nation as a whole had profited. Perhaps some of Mr. Bennett's good Conservative friends—including the morning paper—who on two occasions assisted in the defeat of the technical school bylaw in this city, will take his observations to heart.

The leader of the opposition will find few to quarrel with him in his contention that the tourist trade of Canada is an important and valuable national asset. We presume he would not find it difficult to rise in his place in the House of Commons and congratulate the government upon the progressive policy it is pursuing to popularize the Dominion as something in the nature of the holiday-maker's Promised Land.

PEACE IN THE SCHOOLS

IT WOULD BE AN EXCELLENT THING if all the educational authorities of the country would follow the example of the Toronto Board of Education and recommend the placing in the public and high schools of copies of the world's peace pledge that was signed at Paris on August 27, 1928. The document, remarkable for its simplicity, reads as follows.

The High Contracting Parties solemnly declare in the name of their respective peoples that they condemn recourse to war for the solution of international controversies and renounce it as an instrument of national policy in their relation with one another.

The High Contracting Parties agree that the settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts of whatever nature or of whatever origin they may be, which arise among them, shall never be sought except by pacific means.

More than sixty nations already have signed this undertaking and, although it may not provide any machinery for its enforcement, its moral force already has made itself felt. It is not too much to say, despite Russia's truculent reply to the reminder recently given that country of its signature to this pact, that hostilities of a serious nature between her and China—also a signatory—have to some extent been averted by the sense of high obligation which this pledge has engendered.

It is highly desirable that every effort be made to enlist the rising generation in the army of peace. The boys and girls who are going to school to-day were either unborn or merely tiny tots when the last great conflict was in progress. Its cause, conduct, the dissipation of human lives and treasure with which it was attended, to say nothing of the costly aftermath in the form of colossal burdens of taxation, will be understood by them only as systems of war economics are introduced in the classrooms.

The teaching of peace is as essential to the future progress of the world as the teaching of any other subject in the school curriculum. The prominent display in the schools of the country of the peace pledge to which we have referred would assist in the development of a peace psychology among the rising generation that gradually would oust the customs and psychology of the war era.

THE SMUTS DOCTRINE

FOLLOWING ITS STUDY OF THE DOCTRINE of empire as expounded by General Smuts at Ottawa the other day, The Manchester Guardian, in a whole-hearted endorsement of the views of the former South African Premier, says the conception of Dominion status was the happiest political invention of the nineteenth century. British politicians of all parties, with analogies of great empires of the past in their minds, argues the great Manchester daily, thought the British Empire must break up sooner or later; but the notion of Dominion status, invented to suit the case of Canada, proved capable of overturning all these historical parallels.

There still are a few people in this country who cling to the old colony tradition, but their numbers are dwindling rapidly. They have received so many shocks from leaders of all Canadian political parties that there is little else for them to do but accept the policy which time has shown to be the only basis of empire permanence. All schools of informed political thought now appreciate the greater influence the empire is able to wield in world affairs by virtue of the expansion of the system which The Manchester Guardian considers the "happiest political invention of the nineteenth century."

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

An exchange urges that all young people in the country should be taught the constitution of Canada "so well that they would know it frontwards and backwards." They should be taught it frontwards first. Too many adults know it only backwards.—Toronto Star.

THE EMPIRE CRUSADE

The Spectator (London)

The discussion of the Empire Free Trade in the House of Lords has brought into relief the amazing misconceptions still cherished by certain minds as to the nature of the British Commonwealth and as to the function of the "Empire" in bringing about an era of general prosperity and world peace. Lord Passfield gently but fairly reminded the Beaverbrook Crusaders that Canada, Australia, etc., are "free and independent nations," not at all inclined to stretch the bounds of sentiment to the point where it conflicts with what they perceive to be their business interests. He might have added that the whole purpose of Empire Preference is stultified when the effect is, as is actually now the case in Australia, to make a Dominion government create tariffs so that this country may be accorded a preference.

THE PRIME OF LIFE

The Christian Science Monitor

Now and then during the centuries, men have had vouchsafed to them the vision that something beyond the cognizance of the material senses is the fact regarding existence. They have glimpsed in a measure the integrity and continuity of immortality extending through and beyond the experience we call human life. The vision has been recorded for all men to read. The Psalmist not only sang of the man whose "days are as grass," but also of mankind redeemed from destruction and death by the mercies of God, divine life, who is "from everlasting to everlasting." Joy voiced his conclusion that though the body might be destroyed, yet his real selfhood was eternal. The words of Browning, "On earth the broken arc; in heaven the perfect circle," are pertinent to immortality.

Despite the reiterated confidence in life eternal, of prophet, priest and poet, many have their entire conduct upon the assumption that life is but a question of a few passing seasons, about the centre of which is a period of productive years often termed the prime of life. They advance toward this period with the hope and aspiration; they pass beyond its limits with regret and even dread.

The belief that one's life is measured by days and years, with a central span of health and accomplishment, limits and belittles human activities. Just as certainly as the accredited fiction that the world was flat restricted men's movements to a narrow horizon. The truth that Life is God, eternal, changeless, harmonious, gives one a broad basis from which to demonstrate health and capability, regardless of passing years.

A THOUGHT

The young man said unto him, All these things I have kept from my youth up; what lack I yet?—St. Matthew viii 19.

Nothing will make up so charitable and tender to the faults of others as by self-examination thoroughly to know our own.—Fenelon.

Loose Ends

A column of protest on patriotic grounds—against a strange attitude towards the National Anthem—the slaying thereof—and the proper occasions therefor.

By H. B. W.

IN THE newspapers at this time a spirited controversy is proceeding to decide definitely what version of "O Canada" should be used in this country, and it is humiliating for Canadians to find, as an offshoot of this discussion, that a large body of our people are not familiar with the various versions, are not, indeed, sufficiently familiar with any version to sing it aloud without inserting a series of "hum-doo-diddy-dah's" to replace the words they have forgotten, or never known. This deplorable condition is familiar enough to everyone, but it is surprising to find now, that most of us don't even know how to sing "God Save the King" accurately.

NEXT TIME "God Save the King" is sung you will observe that it is sung thus:

"God Save our gracious King,
Long live our noble King,
God save our King.
Send him victorious,
Happy and glorious,
Long to reign over us,
God save our King."

ACTUALLY in the first line it should be "God save our gracious King," but in the other two lines the proper words are "God save the King." So few people are aware of this common error that it took this column some time to check it up. It is not easy, in fact, to find a copy of the National Anthem even in a good library, because one is expected to know it without reference. Unhappily, few of us do.

WHEN YOU come to read it in cold print the National Anthem as poetry is poor stuff. It doesn't even rhyme properly, for the author has ruthlessly tried to make "victorious" and "glorious" associate with "over us," which, with the broadest possible poetical license, just can't be done. But we are a peculiar people, to whom all forms of logic, mathematics and reason are offensive. But let the poets and literary authorities rail. We understand what we think of "God Save the King." We know that its imperfections have become ornaments through long years of usage, and that is all that matters.

ON THE other hand, there is a growing tendency in this country to cheapen the anthem by using it on every possible occasion, whether it is suitable or otherwise. Some people think that the more we sing it the more patriotic we must be, and they would not hesitate to use it to conclude a prize fight, a dog fight or a bun fight in the belief that they would thus be honoring the Throne. I could never see either way a hymn, a reverent supplication to the Deity, should be played by a jazz band at three o'clock in the morning to conclude an evening of fox-trotting and wine-bibbing, except that it warns the dancers that the orchestra has played the full period for which it is being paid union wages and is going home.

THIS MATTER was once brought up in the Canadian Parliament, and might well be brought up again. On that occasion the famous Dr. Michael Clark of Red Deer, who used to be a lovely independent sort of luminary in the Commons, objected emphatically to the National Anthem being used as one of the trappings of partisan politics. In those days it was the custom of partisans in the Commons to break forth into the strains of "God Save the King" at any moment and on any provocation whatever on the theory that they were saving the country. A discussion of a new post office down in the Maritimes, an argument over the price of butter or the export of cheese was ample cause for an outburst of song, the idea apparently being that the more you sang "God Save the King" the more patriotic you were, and those whose voices prevented them from singing, of course, were traitors to the Empire.

DR. CLARK was an Englishman, and as an Englishman he was not accustomed to hearing the National Anthem thundered forth whenever someone felt a burst of patriotism coming on. These outbursts got on his nerves. So he stood up before the entire Commons, said he wished to make a statement and sang "God Save the King," all alone, as he said it should be sung, from end to end, including the verse about other countries' "knaveish tricks," often corrupted into "navies' tricks," and certainly not a helpful sentiment in this era of international co-operation and disarmament. Well, Dr. Clark sang "God Save the King" through from beginning to end in a loud voice as he said it should be sung, and when it saw this lonely figure enchaining the words without accompaniment and without any reason, the Commons learned its lesson. After that "God Save the King" was seldom sung in the Commons.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, January 16, 1905

Victoria's council for the year, 1905, will hold its first regular meeting in the City Hall this evening. When the newly-elected members take their seats, there will be a noticeable change in the "line-up" to employ football parlance.

Weather Forecast—Victoria and Vicinity—Easterly to southerly winds, unsettled and mild, with occasional rains.

In view of the splendid testimony to the excellence of the fourth annual show of the Victoria Poultry and Pet Stock Association, which was given by Judge C. G. Hinds through The Times the other day, it is unnecessary to comment further on the very successful exhibition of fowl which was closed on Saturday evening.

For several weeks past a large number of excursionists have arrived here from the Northwest Territories and Manitoba. This can only be attributed to the cheap rates, over the C.P.R. lines from these points to the Pacific Coast.

The Provincial Government, having taken over Darcy Island, the Isletto will formally be inspected by Dr. Fagan, secretary of the provincial board of health. He will visit the island to-morrow, going by the tug Stadie.

W. E. Stenaland has returned after an extensive eastern trip in the interests of the firm of Wilson Bros.

NEW PLANS TO RELIEVE THOSE IN NEED LISTED

Discussion of Unemployment at Vancouver Brings Forward Suggestions

Vancouver, Jan. 16.—Concrete suggestions for the relief of unemployment in British Columbia were put forward yesterday in the form of resolutions submitted at the second session of the unemployment conference held here.

Recommendations from the Independent Labor Party delegation will be considered with other suggestions by the resolutions committee at a meeting this evening and a report will be presented to the conference Friday.

Included with suggestions are the following to the Federal authorities:

"That there should be provided unemployment insurance to cover all workers from the organized trades to the seasonal and migratory."

"That the Department of Immigration and Labor be combined and immigration restricted till a real demand exists for newcomers."

"That finances be loaned to cities and municipalities at a low interest rate for public undertakings that offer no immediate profits to the sponsors, but which are essential to the development and well-being of the country as a whole."

HEALTH INSURANCE

To the Provincial Government:

"That health insurance be provided to cover all families, and that family allowances be granted where the burden is too heavy for the breadwinner to provide the normal requirements to a healthy upbringing."

"That the Minimum Wage Act and the Workmen's Compensation Act be amended to provide more generous treatment of the workers affected and that efforts be made to sponsor the reduction of hours of labor."

"That a tax on unearned increment to land values be enacted and that the income tax be graduated to bring greater returns from those better able to pay, thus meeting the expense of the reforms suggested."

PLAN CONDEMNED

To cities and municipalities:

"That the policy of Vancouver in paying $2 a day to married men and $1 to single men for so-called relief work is not desirable. Men capable of doing a day's work should be given a day's pay, even if employed less frequently, and those unable to do a day's work should be treated as destitute. By adopting this suggestion, a greater claim can be made on governments for grants toward the cost."

"That Vancouver, together with British Columbia and Dominion authorities, voice their opposition to all concerns, transportation and otherwise, adopting such policies as those of having work done in foreign lands and using foreign labor while Canada is faced with such a problem of unemployment."

FIVE INDIANS LOSE LIVES

Billings, Mont., Jan. 16.—Five persons, all members of a Crow Indian family living at St. Xavier, on the Crow Reserve south of here, were burned to death yesterday in a fire which destroyed the Tom Gardner cabin.

News of Interest to Women

Social and Personal Items

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nichol, who left Victoria for Europe recently, are at present holidaying in Switzerland.

Major and Mrs. Dundas of Comox are visiting in Victoria and are guests at the James Bay Hotel.

Major and Mrs. Read of Maple Bay are spending a short time in Victoria and are guests at the James Bay Hotel.

Miss Gilda of Shawanigan Lake is spending a few days in Victoria as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Acland, Somers Drive.

Mrs. Edward Blair and Miss Mabel A. Campbell have left Victoria for Kamloops to attend the funeral of the late Mr. John Love, their nephew.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Spencer of Vancouver and sons, who have been sojourning at Palm Springs, will leave soon via the Panama for the West Indies.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hammond have returned to the city after spending five months touring Alberta, Ontario, Michigan and California. Mr. and Mrs. Hammond are staying at the Balmoral Hotel, pending possession of their Belmont Avenue home.

Mrs. D. Melver Campbell entertained yesterday afternoon at her home on Parkington Street with five tables of bridge in honor of her aunt, Mrs. Pennefather of Calgary, who is visiting in Victoria as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Dunford, Parkington Street.

The Dean of Columbia was the speaker at the meeting of the University Women's Club of Vancouver on Tuesday evening. Dean M. L. Bolter presided at the meeting, and later tea was served by graduates of American universities, with Mrs. Glen Hyatt in charge. Yellow chrysanthemums and golden tapers decorated the tea table, which was presided over by Mrs. M. B. Cunningham and Dr. Belle Wilson. Others on the committee were Miss Mabel Allen, Mrs. Paul Day, Mrs. T. C. Hebb, Miss Crimmins and Mrs. Glen Rugey.

The Premier and Mrs. Tolmie entertained at luncheon yesterday at noon the visiting political heads, who were in attendance at the conference here for two days. The entire party, which included also the city members of the Legislature, Mr. Lindley Crease, K.C., vice-president of the British Columbia Association, and Mr. R. A. Wootton, the president of the Victoria association, drove direct from the Parliament Building to "Cloverdale," the home of the Premier and Mrs. Tolmie, where luncheon was served. Following the repast, the company returned to the Parliament Buildings.

Esquimalt W.I. Has New Members

Sixteen new members were welcomed at the January meeting of the Esquimalt Women's Institute on Tuesday evening, as the result of a membership drive which was started in November. Mrs. Sadler and her committee were the winners of this drive, and were each presented with a prize donated by Mrs. A. Booth.

The retiring president, Mrs. G. Wise, was presented with an umbrella, as a token of esteem from the members before vacating the chair. Mrs. Wise presented to each of the officers and social committee a dainty cup and saucer, and thanked them for their support during the past year. The treasurer's annual report showed a satisfactory balance in the treasury. A resolution forwarded from the Kelowna Institute which had been tabled for thirty days was taken up, discussed and endorsed by the members. Reports were received from the conveners of various committees.

The Public Health convener reported on the Christmas party, which had been held on December 28 and was enjoyed by many of the children and their mothers. The Child Hygiene Council will not meet again till February 6.

Madames Booth, Wise, Kelly and Johnston were appointed delegates to the annual meeting of the Local Council of Women. Conveners were appointed as follows: Women's Institute work method, Mrs. Cave; Home economics, Mrs. Wise; Public Health and Child Welfare, Mrs. Appleby; Education and Better Schools, Mrs. Sablier; Legislation and Immigration, Mrs. Booth; Agriculture, Mrs. Halligan; Industries, Mrs. Sadler; Community Betterment, Mrs. Brockner; Ways to the Means, Madames McLean, Pocock and Williamson; Sick Visitors, Mrs. Holligan and Mrs. Loughurst. At the conclusion of business a social hour was enjoyed, the hostesses being Madames Garret, McLean and Williamson.

Local-cured Bloaters, 2 lbs. 25¢

Mrs. Jas. H. Cobley of 3435 Cook Street, was hostess on Wednesday at the tea hour to the following invited guests: Mrs. McElderry, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Kirkham, Mrs. A. Edwards, Mrs. Sweetland, Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Hedges, Mrs. Roseberry, Mrs. Gage, Mrs. Townsend, Mrs. Miles, Miss Newbough, Miss Turner and Mrs. Edwards of Edmonton.

SEA CHANTEYS SUPERBLY SUNG IN C.P.R. FESTIVAL

Brilliant Artists Give Notable Performance in Opening Concert at Empress Hotel, Picturesque Settings Lend Charm to Rollicking Songs of the Old Sailing Days.

In a programme happily appropriate to this sea-girt city and including as many variations as the moods of the sea itself, ranging from the "delicate wave-green solitude" expressed in an exquisite piano solo, to the breezy, blustering spirit exemplified in the tuneful and picturesque chanteys sung on a windjammer "bound for the Rio Grande," the long-heralded Sea-music Festival opened last evening at the Empress Hotel before a large audience which responded with instant enthusiasm to its unusual appeal. Resident of the salty tang of the ocean, characteristic of the days when sailing called for hardihood and endurance, recalling in its ballads some of Britain's epics of the seas, the Festival happily combines an essentially British sentiment with music of high standard and popular appeal, and has in it all the elements which should insure it a permanent place in the musical institutions of this far west.

If criticism there can be, it is that the programme errs a little on the side of length, yet it would be difficult to say wherein it could be shortened for one would be loath to eliminate any of the items in such a well-chosen pot-pourri of sea music.

Outstanding in its appeal, both from the artistic and the sentimental viewpoints, was the reappearance of Mrs. Gertrude Huntley Green of Vancouver, former Victoria pianist, whose two exquisitely played numbers, "The Island Spell" (Ireland), full of delicate nuances, and the brilliant "Chopin Scherzo," renewed again the pride which Victoria has always felt in this really great artist, and ensured for her a reception so enthusiastic that Mrs. Harold Eustace Key, the musical director, was forced to come before the curtain and express regret that the length of the programme precluded any encores.

Mr. Herbert Heyner, noted English baritone, who, to a voice of extraordinary beauty, adds an arresting personality, scored a notable triumph with his group of seven ballads typical of the sea. Mr. Heyner has the happy faculty of living his songs and of carrying his audience with him, and his group, including "Hearts of Oak" (Boyce), two Stanford numbers, "The Sailor's Prayer" (Frederick Keel), sung with moving sympathy; "Ireland's Sea Fever," and the rollicking "Freight" (Gosdy), earned for him an ovation, in which his brilliant accompanist, William Ditchmont, deservedly shared.

With its effective background on the deck of a sailing ship, the delightful ballad opera, "Bound for the Rio Grande," recaptured the real spirit of the old sea-faring days, with its

FIRST WOMEN ON FLOOR OF U.S. SENATE

The "weaker sex" has broken an ancient barrier. Never had women been accorded the floor of the United States Senate till the other day when Mrs. Evelina K. Southworth, above, and Miss Ruth Peterson, below, fabric experts of the Tariff Commission, were called to furnish data during a senatorial debate on tariff measures. Here you see them smiling because the Senate had to waive its unwritten rule against admitting women to the floor.

Capt. and Mrs. James Griffiths of Seattle, who are well known in Victoria, coming over here frequently aboard their magnificent yacht Sufes III, sailed yesterday from San Francisco aboard the new motorliner Asama Maru on the first leg of a journey around the world. After visiting in the Orient and in India for some time they will go on to Paris and London before returning to Seattle in the summer.

Combining a social evening with the exhibition of watercolor and other sketches, the Island Arts and Crafts Society held a very enjoyable gathering last night in the clubrooms. Mr. T. S. Gore, the president, was in the chair, and Mrs. W. H. Ronald was in charge of the tea. The Schubert Trio, comprising Miss Marchant, Mrs. Kenney and Miss Evelyn Brumpton gave selections; Mr. Chris Miller played violin solos and Miss Kathleen Irvine, who acted as accompanist, played a number of piano solos.

Miss Madeline Priestley, whose marriage to Mr. John Richmond of Vancouver will take place on Saturday, was the guest of honor at a social gathering which followed the meeting of the religious education staff of Oak Bay United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Moore, 81 Charles Street, on Monday evening. Miss Priestley, who has been superintendent of the beginners' department for the last five years, was presented with a handsome set of table linen and in making the presentation Rev. W. A. Guy voiced the sentiments of the entire staff in expressing keen regret at the loss of so capable a worker.

Miss Dorothy Scott entertained yesterday afternoon at her home on Woodlawn Crescent in honor of Mr. Alastair Fraser, who is visiting her father, Senator Ross, and Mrs. Rolfe Struthers, of Montreal. There were two tables of bridge and a number of guests came in later for tea. The table was presided over by Mrs. Walter Scott, and was arranged with a centre bowl of narcissi, daffodils and Spanish iris. The invited guests included Mrs. Nolan Macpherson, of Calgary, Mrs. Brooke Stephenson, Mrs. Jack Gray, Mrs. Sydney Barker, Mrs. W. Ellis, Mrs. V. Godfrey, Mrs. G. B. Williams, Mrs. B. W. Paul, Mrs. Roy Hadley, Miss Anne Michell, Miss Norma Macdonald, the Misses Margaret and Mary Clay, Miss B. Bullock-Webster, Miss Ines Carey, Miss Lynch, Miss Lora Blake and Miss Jennie Turner.

Mrs. Harold Eustace Key entertained at the tea hour at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon, when her guests included some of the artists who are taking part in the Sea Music Festival and members of the press. Those invited included Mrs. Gertrude Huntley Green, Mrs. F. X. Hodgson (Vancouver), Miss Mary Frances James, Mrs. Hugh Campbell, Mrs. W. Ditchmont (Vancouver), Miss Lucille Blenner and Miss Olesman of San Francisco, Mrs. San Glover and Mrs. Matlocks of Los Angeles, Mrs. Cash, Mrs. Gordon and Miss Bloomfield of Vancouver, Mrs. Bessie P. Hodges, Miss Bruce, Miss Jessie James and Miss Lynch.

Rev. Thomas Keyworth and Mrs. Keyworth have received the sad news of the death of their nephew, Mr. John H. Love, at the Royal Island Hospital, Kamloops, after an illness of nine years' duration. He was the son of the late Mr. James D. Love and Mrs. Colin Campbell, of Penticton, and was a native of Cowan, Scotland, his grandfather having been a Presbyterian minister of Johnstone, Scotland. He is survived by his grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Hughes, of this city, and the following uncle and aunt; also of Victoria: Mr. and Mrs. George Hughes, Rev. Thomas and Mrs. Keyworth, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chesworth and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blair.

Mrs. C. Freer entertained at a miscellaneous shower at her home, 227 Robertson Street, last evening in honor of Miss Beale Wallace, a popular bride-to-be. The many delightful gifts were presented by little Reggie Fleming to the guest of honor in a "Good Luck" ship. The many guests included: Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Bromley, Mrs. Cousins, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. C. Freer, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Fleming, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. F. Freer, Mrs. Michael Brenner, Mrs. Stafford, Mrs. Fleming, Mrs. Dunn, the Misses A. Alexander, M. Ralfs, J. Anderson, E. Thomas, D. Thomas, B. Wallace, E. Amey, M. Fairful, C. Graham, M. Richards, A. Ray, K. Tadman, M. Burt, N. Amey, A. Smith, M. Motion, K. Elston, S. Underwood, J. McGillivray, C. McGregory, R. Ford, H. Smith, M. Galloway, M. Bishop, C. Sadder, M. Black, M. Hawkes, M. Cox, A. Balnave, G. Woods, W. Green, M. Higgins, M. Phillips, D. Hearn, and E. Olive.

Much credit for the organization of the programme must be given to Mr. Key, musical director for the C.P.R. festivals, who to these arduous duties added that of accompanist for several groups, and to Mr. C. B. Cox, the stage manager, for the excellence of the settings.

Officers Installed—The L.O.O.F. Hall, Douglas Street, was filled to capacity with Odd Fellows and Rebekahs to witness the installation of the officers of Carme Rebekah Lodge No. 28, for the ensuing term. The officers were installed by Sister A. G. Marshall, D.D.P., assisted by Sister A. G. Marshall, acting D.G. marshal. The following officers were installed: Sister Ada Bannister, N.G.; Sister Gladys Arnall, V.G.; Sister Eva Doane, Sec.; Sister Winnie Arnall, Fin. Sec.; Sister Amy McKenna, Treas.; Sister Lily Dobbie, S.S.N.G.; Sister Christine Arnall, V.G.; Sister Irma Hall, R.V.G.; Sister Agnes Nathan, L.S.V.G.; Sister Clara Taylor, conductor; Sister Mary Combe, warden; Sister Ethel Allan, inside guard; Bro. Hubbard, outside guard. Sister Ramsay, pianist. During the ceremony each officer received a beautiful corsage bouquet, the gift of the D.D. President, Sister Cecile. The retiring W.G., Sister Harriett Bell, was presented with a beautiful P.N.G. jewel by D.D.P. Sister Cecile, also a gift as a token of esteem by the degree staff. The ceremony of installation being completed, all assembled adjourned to the banquet hall where a sumptuous banquet had been prepared by the social committee.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MARY ELLERED

Mrs. Ellered will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

INTERFERING GRANDPARENTS CAUSE YOUNG PARENTS MUCH GRIEF

Some of the most pathetic letters we read are from young mothers who are being torn this way and that, in an attempt to rear their children in the way doctors and child psychologists of to-day are advising, yet still keep pace with the usually disapproving older generation.

From experience, we have one word of advice for the young mother. Don't make the first mistake of turning the baby over to grandmother just because you want to run out and be free of baby's care, and then demur when grandmother spoils the child, feeds him wrongly, and, as will inevitably happen sooner or later, turns the dominating, spoiled child over to the mother saying, "I can't do a thing with him, now it's your turn."

The first step is so easy to take. You must be so unused to the discipline of the older generation, and when they find that things don't work out they alone must take all the corrective steps. The adults are willing enough to spoil the child, but are never willing to do the subsequent disagreeable work that will undo what they have done.

GRANDPARENTS CAN'T RESIST SPOILING CHILD

It is absolutely natural for grandparents to spoil their grand-children. Even if grandmother disciplines her own children and showed them what was what, she is weak as water with her grandchild. She is also sure to feel that her daughter, who may be no sterner than she was, is too harsh with the child. She pities the baby for being put to bed in a dark room because she loves to cuddle and rock him. She hates to have him cry when he is refused food from the table, so she sneaks him what she knows her daughter would not give him. The two generations are inevitably at cross purposes. The grandmother has as her ally the female adult relatives whether they have ever had children or not. The sternest disciplinarians who haven't an ounce of sympathy for the growing child are those who have never had a child to deal with, but are ready to tell the world what they would do if that child were theirs.

A mother cannot shed her responsibilities on to anyone's shoulders. She can't ask help of grandmother and then expect that grandmother will stick to all the details of regular hours and feeding that the young mother knows so important. Only the two young parents concerned have one word to say in the matter of discipline. No one else has the least right to interfere or even advise. There is no doubt that if the young mother follows everyone's advice against her own judgment, whether it be in the matter of feeding, discipline or sleeping hours or what not, just as soon as results are unsatisfactory the relatives wash their hands of the child. "It's your baby, you have to take care of him." It is a wise mother who foresees that in advance and uses her own head, makes her own mistakes and knows what to do to correct them. It is an even wiser grandmother who has strength enough to say when the baby is born, "You alone are responsible for what this child is to be. You must learn how to take care of him. Don't depend upon me."

MISS BENNETT IS WELCOMED

Women's Conservative Association Hold Largely-attended Reception

Miss Mildred Bennett, sister of Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Dominion Conservative party, was the guest of honor at a largely-attended reception given by the Women's Conservative Club at the headquarters in the Campbell Building yesterday afternoon. Mrs. A. J. Gille, the president, was in the chair, and was assisted by Mrs. S. F. Toimie in welcoming the guests, among whom were Mr. Bennett, Hon. S. F. Toimie, Premier of British Columbia, D. B. Plunkett, Federal M.P. for Victoria; Gen. A. D. McRae, M.P., Dominion organizer for the party; T. A. Kirk, M.P., Vancouver, and Provincial president of the Conservative Association; Senator and Mrs. R. F. Green; Senator and Mrs. G. H. Barnard; Captain George Black, M.P. for the Yukon; C. H. Dickson, M.P., Vancouver; Hon. S. L. Howe, Provincial Secretary; Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education; H. J. Barber, M.P., Fraser Valley; Colonel J. Peck, V.C., J. Jones, M.P., South Okanagan, and J. C. Brady, M.P., Skeena, and the president of the Victoria Conservative Club, H. A. Woodcock.

BRIEF ADDRESSES

Brief addresses, laying emphasis upon the important part played by women in the Conservative cause, were given by Miss Bennett, Mr. Bennett, who touched upon tariff matters, Premier Toimie, who urged the voters to study the various issues at stake in preparation for the forthcoming general election, General McRae, T. A. Kirk and D. B. Plunkett.

The programme, arranged by Mrs. W. C. Moresby and the executive, included the presentation by little Barbara Bennett, Mrs. Toimie and Mrs. Gille.

WOMAN'S VIEW

Mrs. Reece Burns spoke very briefly on "The Women's Point of View," closing with the Wilson-Macdonald's "Better Understanding." Several young girls gave very attractive dances. Joy Daisel and Hilda Jacques, pupils of Miss Clough, giving a tap dance; Veronica Hartley and Marjorie Wot a waltz; and Hilda Wilson a ball-tan.

The tea table was arranged in buffet fashion down the centre of the room, prettily decorated with gold and silver chrysantheums and gold candles. The ladies who presided at the urns were Mrs. S. F. Howe, Mrs. R. H. Pooley, Mrs. P. P. Burden, Mrs. W. A. McKenzie, Mrs. J. Hinchliffe and Lady McKenzie.

PHILIPPINE DEBATE

Washington, Jan. 16.—Manuel Roxas, Speaker of the Philippine House of Representatives, yesterday told the Senate Committee on Insular Affairs that his people had decided that "whatever the consequences" they wanted independence now. Making an impassioned plea for withdrawal of United States sovereignty over the 13,000,000 people of the Islands, Roxas testified, during a general consideration of all bills and resolutions introduced on the issue.

H.M.S. Resolution Chapter—Mrs. Robert Harvey was re-elected representative of the H.M.S. Resolution Chapter, I.O.D.E., at the meeting held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. A. W. McKenzie, Hampshire Road. Other officers were nominated. Mrs. Farrow reported that a substantial sum had resulted from the chapter's sale of cigarettes at the I.O.D.E. tea at the Empress Hotel. A donation of $25 was received from Mrs. Dixon, mother of the former member. Six new members were welcomed to the chapter. Mrs. Frank Berry, Mrs. Fraser Lister, the Misses Doris and Marjorie Holmes and Miss Ethel Loughhead. A year's subscription to Echoes will be sent to Miss Brown for her school in the Peace River district. I.O.D.E. calendar will be sent to the Oak Bay High School. The annual meeting will take place on February 10, at headquarters. The H.M.S. Resolution Trio will play at the Y.W.C.A. "at home" next Tuesday.

MRS. MERRICK TO LEAVE PRISON

Night Club Proprietress Completes Sentence; in Ill Health

London, Jan. 16.—Mrs. Kate Merrick, night club proprietress whose two daughters married peers, is expected to be released on Saturday from the prison to which she was sentenced January 29, 1929, to hard labor for corrupting the police. She has earned three months remission of sentence for good behavior.

She entered the prison hospital three months ago and was said to be suffering from poor health.

Loggers' Agency In Vancouver Finds Men Jobs

Vancouver, Jan. 16.—Camps of the B.C. Loggers' Association have taken in 1,042 men since the first of this year through the loggers' agency on Carrall Street, according to William Black, manager.

"I would like to point out the number of loggers sent out by the Dominion Employment Service, as published Wednesday, does not represent all the men put to work since January 1," said Mr. Black.

"Through our Vancouver office we have placed 1,042 men, and in addition the committee of logging and railway companies has taken on 300 men from the local districts. Or course additional men have been placed through other agencies."

TREATMENT FOR DEAFNESS, HEAD NOISES AND CATARRH SENT FREE!

Offensive Catarrhal Conditions Ended By Home Remedy!

Successful Home Treatment Originated by Dr. W. O. Coffee Assures Quick Relief for Nasal Catarrh.

Free Trial Treatment Sent to All Sufferer

This is a generous offer. An offer of a special, carefully prepared and tested home treatment for catarrh of the nose, throat, head and air passages absolutely free. No strings to it in any way—it is open to everyone to every catarrhal sufferer in Canada and the United States. Every sufferer, everywhere, who reads this announcement, should unhesitatingly accept it.

There are sure to be thousands of these treatments given away. The more the better, because it is certain that all who make this free test will prove to their satisfaction the worth of Dr. Coffee's treatment, that every self-treatment will make a permanent booster.

For no matter how much you are told about this way of combating catarrhal conditions, or of the thousands who have been given complete relief, you must have a chance to actually try it and its reactions—in your particular case is better than all explanations.

This treatment for catarrh—for freedom from that condition—relieves and forestalls many feared and distressing situations. A real test is better even than the real testimonials from those who have been given relief. And when the gift-treatment has been tried, you will wonder why this splendid treatment was never called to your attention before.

Dr. Coffee won success as a catarrhal disease specialist. He, too, suffered with catarrh, deafness and head noises and many of its complications. Innumerable treatments failed to better his condition.

Is This Your Condition?

He experimented until he found a way that gave him real and actual relief in a permanent way. Following this, he treated thousands of sufferers in the same manner. Many have written, after completing the treatment, expressing thanks for their recovery; for their absolute freedom from colds, nose and throat discharges; from poisoned systems, food and branchial affections and even rheumatism and intestinal troubles. All due, as they say, to their catarrhal condition.

Catarrh Is a Handicap

Dirt and dust, from contaminated sections are deposited in the nose and throat with every breath. Much of it finds its way into the mouth, for nasal catarrh causes the disgusting, offensive, mouth-breathing. The impurities in this filthy-laden air are deposited in the catarrhal fluid—the mucus. Soon it finds its way into the body—and it is a strong constituency indeed that can withstand the disease, once it is started.

Thousands Recommend Dr. Coffee's Treatment

Don't miss this chance to make the acquaintance of this logical and purely medical catarrh treatment. A treatment, the worth of which is attested by so many who have written of their relief.

Slowly and carefully it was developed—until at last, after many thorough, painstaking tests, Dr. Coffee was convinced that he had the best treatment, the most effective course he had ever found. Its success in the past proves that it accomplishes its purpose. And it is free on trial to you. Just send the coupon.

Deaf Since Childhood Hearing Greatly Benefited This Way

Chronio and Acute Deafness Ends

Mrs. Mona McBride of Illinois, says: "This is to certify that since having scarlet fever when a little girl, I have been hard of hearing, and for the past four or five years I have been almost entirely deaf. A few months ago my left ear began to discharge. I found it to be abcessed and discharging a foul fluid. Nothing seemed to stop it and finally I tried Dr. Coffee's treatment. To my surprise and delight the hearing in the ear which was partially deaf for nearly twenty years has returned and the abcess has healed. Now I can hear a conversation six feet away. I didn't believe it possible, and I certainly advise anyone suffering with deafness to try this treatment. I obtained relief in a short time."

Treated Successfully at 80 Years

"I used the medicine you sent me and have completely recovered. I am 80 years old and was rapidly getting bad in my hearing and I think Dr. Coffee's treatment is great."

Calvin Gibson, Okla.

"DON'T YOU THINK AN OLD LADY LIKE ME WOULD BE HAPPY TO BE RID OF HER DEAFNESS AND CATARRH?"

Saved From Deafness and Catarrh by Home Treatment!

Literally thousands of people from different sections of Canada and U.S.A. have used this special, original home treatment. Not only have many found relief from distressing head noises, but restoration of good or normal hearing as well.

Head Noises Gone

"I was remarkably benefited by your treatment. I have been troubled for years with violent head noises and finally a friend advised me to try your method; he sent for the treatment himself. I noticed the improvement at once, and now I am well."

Mr. C. McGinnis, Pennsylvania.

Wonderfully Improved

"I received your treatment for catarrhal deafness and in just three days after I had used it, my hearing began to improve. And now I am wonderfully improved."

Yours very truly, D. H. Carpenter, Alabama.

Please accept my sincere thanks for the successful treatment of my hearing. After being nearly deaf in both ears I have attained my good hearing once more.

Sorry not to have acknowledged before and wish to say I am grateful to you for the wonderful result.

Mrs. C. Lunden, For E. Lunden.

"I had been suffering with catarrh for seven years and tried a great many remedies, but did not find anything that helped me. I was finally advised to try your treatment. After taking the treatment I noticed a change for the better inside of a week. I am throwing off this poison, and anyone who has catarrh."

Yours truly, F. A. F. Monte Vista, Colo.

Authorities Blame Ear Tubal Catarrh for a Large Percent of Deafness Throughout the World

Free Trial to All Sufferers

Improvement General

Physicists state, authoritatively, too, that in these cases doubtless other diseased conditions were combated and relieved by the defeat of catarrh; for it no longer poured its daily portion of poison into the human system and the body was no longer required to use a great portion of its strength in throwing off this poison. As a result it was better able to combat new disease and the general physical condition was bettered in addition to the relief given for deafness.

This May Be Believed

This condition may be relieved. Dr. W. O. Coffee, a specialist in the Middle West for many years, developed a home treatment for deafness, head noises from ear tubal catarrh, and catarrh itself. Through this method, it is possible to remedy the catarrhal condition in many cases and make hearing practically normal once more. It has been proved that in many cases this is true.

Great Success

Phenomenal success has attended the Dr. Coffee home treatment. More than 600,000 cases of deafness, head noises due to ear tubal catarrh and ordinary nasal catarrh have used this method in all sections of the country and out of this number a huge number have reported complete satisfaction.

Most of these sufferers have been people whose hearing was bad in one ear and was rapidly getting bad in the other. With every cold, the hearing grew worse. This condition was relieved for many; relieved not only for the time, but the catarrhal condition was bettered and in many cases all traces of the disease disappeared.

Deafness strikes at all—old and young—and Dr. Coffee's home treatment has been used by people of all ages. By this method many who were apparently destined to go through life with the handicap of impaired hearing were made normal once more.

Dr. Coffee's Home Treatment for Deafness has been used by over 500,000 persons. It should benefit you likewise provided you are not totally deaf from disease of any kind, or from shock, or from any cause where the hearing apparatus has been broken down.

It Is Sent Free

So send the coupon to-day. If you are a sufferer from deafness or head noises from ear tubal catarrh, or simply nasal catarrh, which may cause you to become deaf, you will receive a free treatment for this distressing condition. Do this now—while this offer is before you. Send the coupon.

Ear Tubal Deafness Successfully Treated By Simple Home Method.

Trial Treatments Given Free to Sufferers from Deafness, Head Noises and Catarrhal Conditions

Dr. W. O. Coffee, for many years an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist in the Middle West, developed a treatment for deafness and dullness of hearing from ear tubal catarrh and for catarrh itself which has resulted in the restoration of hearing for so many.

Basing his treatment on the fact that in a very large percentage of the cases, loss of hearing is due to a catarrhal condition, Dr. Coffee by concentrating his efforts in that field proved that restoration of hearing is not a myth. Thousands of people from all sections of Canada and U.S.A. have taken this original home treatment and have been benefited. Letters from hundreds of these people attesting to the effectiveness of this method are on file here.

Dr. Coffee never claimed that his original treatment would restore hearing to all cases of deafness, but he said if the deafness or head noises are caused from a catarrhal condition and the tissues of the middle ear are not damaged, the hearing should be restored to real good or normal. Basing his experiments in his office on this practical relief of these conditions, he positively demonstrated that the restoration of hearing to many severe cases is an easy, practical thing for the sufferer to accomplish for himself at home.

Tells of Development

Years ago the late Dr. Coffee himself began to suffer from head noises, dullness of hearing and with catarrh. He was rapidly losing his hearing. It was "bad" in one ear and "worse" in the other. It would get bad in the other. Slowly but surely his hearing appeared to be leaving him. He naturally tried every remedy he knew of, as deafness in his profession would have been fatal to his success. After a great loss of time and when two operations had failed to give permanent relief he calmed his fears and began to analyze the cause and effect of the trouble.

Basing his treatment on the results of his study he developed a system which he believed would remove the handicap of deafness if anything would. There was nothing magical about it. It was a logical scientific treatment and within a short time he began to improve. After some time, he was normal again.

Treatment Sent to Thousands

Acquaintances and friends of the doctor's inquired as to the treatment and soon he was overwhelmed with requests for the method. To treat this number of people in time allotted to office hours would have been impossible; and so he started to develop a home treatment. After careful consideration he decided on a course which he believed to be effective. He allowed a number to try it at home, without the assistance of a physician, and found that they could do the work with almost the efficiency and the good results that a doctor could.

Explains Free Offer

To prove that this treatment is effective—that deafness, dullness of hearing and head noises from ear tubal catarrh, and nasal catarrh can be treated and relieved at home, free trial home treatments will be sent to sufferers on request. These announcements are being made in newspapers throughout the entire country and you are urged to send for free treatment now before the offer is withdrawn.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

IT MAY have been Gene Tunney who has the right to be called the sports mirror, but Thomas Heeney in his far-seeing, ring engagement. There were others knocking around the woods at that time who might have given him a better battle and who deserved the shot, but Tunney's demand prevailed. Tex Rickard and Madison Square Garden let Tunney meet Heeney. It was a massacre in more ways than one, the Garden being forced to dig down into its pockets to make up a deficit, and Heeney being considerably abused by the champion.

Jack Sharkey has been doing quite a lot of saying about what he will and won't do. He would not fight Tuffy Griffiths, Simon City battler, he says, because he sees nothing to be gained by fighting that kind of fellow, and because he believes Griffiths will not draw. He is willing to fight Scott or Campolo or one of the others because they would draw.

This idea of a fighter telling a promoter what opponent he prefers to meet and refusing to box anybody else, doesn't sound so good. And that is most likely what a great champion would do. The promoter would have to make the customers are fully aware that the opponent has been hand-picked, they don't fall to pushing the tuneless so merrily. You can't blame them for that.

The old story about the hometown boy who had to go somewhere else to make good is exemplified in the boxing situation as it stands at the present time. Foreign fighters are coming into the United States in droves, with not much besides strange names and odd proportions and are granted at once teams of the well known ballyhoo. Meantime the local boy has to knock someone silly to get his name into public prints.

The Chicago Black Hawks have disposed of another manager, at least Tom Shaughnessy has resigned, claiming his business connections have made it impossible for him to carry on as pilot-of-the-Windy City club. Shaughnessy makes the fourth manager in three years to give up the managerial duties of the Chicago club.

When Major Fred McLaughlin, owner of the Hawks, started his club off in the National Hockey League three years ago, he placed the late Pete Muldoon in the managerial role. Muldoon lasted only one season and then he came back to the Pacific Coast and helped form the Seattle club in the Pacific Coast Hockey League. Muldoon stated that he found it impossible to get along with McLaughlin, who although a good manager, was about hockey tried to tell Muldoon how to run the team.

Muldoon was succeeded by Hughie Lehman, former goalie with the Vancouver Maroons, and at present managing Teddy Oake's Toronto Millionaires. However, Lehman did not last long, his place being taken by Barney Stanley. The latter suffered the same fate as the others, being replaced this season by Shaughnessy. The latter introduced a new training system with the Hawks, using the same methods as are adopted with U.S. football teams. Shaughnessy, who was the U.S.-born N.H.L. manager, has experienced fine successes with the Hawks, and it will be interesting to see how they make out without him in the team.

Winter books on the Kentucky Derby are being prepared, Tom Shaw, one of New York's sports columnists, believed which one should be the favorite in the Oaks, at 4 to 1. The other Whitley horse, Boojum, which Shaw regards as a long shot, is at 10 to 1. These two were the best two-year-olds to run during last season, and the difference in odds between the two seems to be pretty wide. If which one competes, of course, he will be a hot favorite.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Al Simmons performed his duty as clean-up man for the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics in championship style last season, leading the circuit in the important business of batting in runs, official 1929 averages revealed today.

The heavy swinging Philadelphian participated in 143 games and drove in 157 of the 901 runs scored all season by Connie Mack's team. Thirty-four times he scored himself by home runs and came home with eighty more through the assistance of his mates.

CHICAGO OPPOSES LEADERS

Victory Over Boston Would Give Them Three-point Lead on N.Y. Rangers

Two Places in N.H.L. at Stake To-night; Ottawa at Home to Toronto

New York, Jan. 16.—Two places in the National Hockey League standings, second in the American group and third in the international are at stake in to-night's games.

Chicago, which holds second place, plays its last home game before starting a long road tour and its last under the management of Tom Shaughnessy, meeting the league-leading Boston Bruins.

Triumph to-night would give the Black Hawks a three-point margin over the New York Rangers, who are idle. Toronto and Ottawa, rivals for the third position in the international division, meet in the Canadian capital.

The top of the international group, which now is in the possession of the Montreal Maroons, cannot be changed, but there is the possibility that the Canadiens of Montreal may cut down the lead. Les Canadiens play at home against the Detroit Cougars. The Maroons play in New York against the Americans.

Pro Boxing To Be Resumed In Seattle Shortly

Seattle, Jan. 16.—After nearly a three-months' rest professional boxing will be resumed in Seattle.

The Austin and Bishop Athletic Club announced yesterday that it planned to stage a card of bouts here January 28 and alternate thereafter with the National Athletic Club in holding weekly shows.

The resumption of boxing follows on the heels of the legal victory scored recently when a Superior Court jury freed Austin and Bishop of any misdemeanor in promoting the Leo Lomski-Jack Willis bout here October 12. The club contended that it had operated under the law as it allowed members of the organization to attend the bout and that the contestants were club members. The state law prohibits prize fighting, but permits club members to box for exercise.

BANNER YEAR FOR POLO IS FORECAST

International Series Between Great Britain and U.S. Will Be Feature

Tommy Hitchcock Jr. Will Again Head U.S. Squad; Young Players Develop

(BY F. S. O'REILLY, SECRETARY NATIONAL O'REILLY POLO ASSOCIATION)

New York, Jan. 16.—This is distinctly an international year for polo in America, with the prospect that it may be the most interesting we have yet known.

J. J. Astor, acting as chairman of the Hurlingham polo committee, the governing body of polo in the British Dominions, has fired the gun which will eventually be heard around the world in the form of a challenge for the famous international polo cup, serious preparations for which have evidently been under way for some time.

The series, consisting of the best two out of three games, will be played early in September at Meadowbrook, and will be the outstanding event of the year.

Interest in world-wide polo has been developed. At the present time we have an Argentine team in California for participation in the winter tournaments there, one member of which is the famous Manuel Andrada, well known in this country as a spare man on the 1928 team. They have one of the finest pony studs which has ever left that country, and it traveled for forty-two days in its ocean journey to Los Angeles.

An excellent Australian team is planning to take a similar long journey to compete in the English tournament this year and will undoubtedly come here to witness our international series.

While the organization of the United States team to defend the historic international cup against Britain is not yet advanced, Thomas Hitchcock Jr., will, of course, captain the United States side again. There is no one on the horizon likely to dethrone Hitchcock in his top position in the hands of the rating this year, although the development of such young stars as Winston Guest has been remarkable. Not in years has there been so many responsibilities as to the formation of another big four.

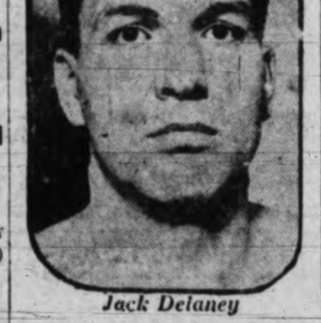

The year, within the United States probably will be featured by the development of young players in intercollegiate polo, which is making great strides in its class.

NEW CLUBS FORMED

The growth of facilities and the formation of new clubs is most impressive. Fields to be opened in the Meadowbrook area this year will nearly double those heretofore existing.

The officers, as well as handicapping committee and circuit governing committee to handle affairs for 1930 will be named at the annual meeting of the United States Polo Association to be held in New York January 22.

Jack Delaney

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 16.—Jack Delaney, retired light heavyweight champion of the world, has fought his last fight.

Dr. George W. Hawley, bone specialist, said "fate" to Delaney's ring career today when he declared that an injury to the right arm which has bothered the former champion for two years, threatened to cripple the arm permanently unless Delaney abandoned boxing.

Delaney, with tears in his eyes, heard the doctor's dictum after an x-ray examination.

QUINTERO IS GIVEN DRAW

Puzzling Style of Southpaw Earns Him Even Break With Champion Mandell

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 16.—A ten-round non-title combat in which the rambling fists of Young Manuel Quintero held champion Sammy Mandell to a draw, put the young Cuban left-hander near the front of the lightweight boxing picture today.

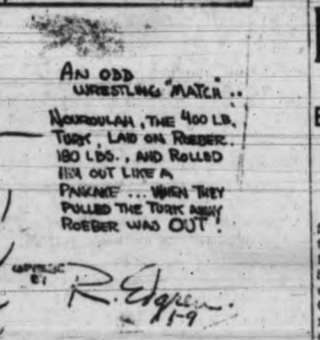

Quintero's puzzling southpaw fighting style won him an even break in his engagement with the titleholder here last night. Promoter G. R. K. Carter said the inaugural bout of the winter flat season in the Miami Arena attracted 11,000 persons, who paid $2.00 to witness the match. Mandell's contract called for $10,000, he added, while Quintero worked on a 12½ per centage basis.

Nursing a cut over his left eye which required two stitches, Mandell said: "What referee says goes," in commenting on the decision, which was rendered by Billy Back of Memphis, who officiated without the aid of judges. Quintero suffered small cuts about the mouth.

TILDEN AND HUNTER WILL STILL PLAY

Veteran U.S. Net Stars Will Take Part in All Big Championships This Summer

Are Only Out of Davis Cup Series; Hunter Will Seek U.S. Indoor Title

New York, Jan. 16.—Although they have decided to quit the Davis Cup arena forever, neither Bill Tilden nor his close friend and playing companion, Frank Hunter, is ready yet to abandon big time tennis in favor of younger stars.

Hunter has revealed that both he and Bill will compete in all the big U.S. outdoor tournaments this summer and fall, including the U.S. championships.

Tilden, who in Europe, where he won the Monte Carlo singles and doubles titles last week, is virtually certain to play in the French hard court championships at Autoul and the British championships at Wimbledon.

Hunter has not yet made up his mind as to whether he will compete at Wimbledon. He is already in training for the season and will play in the U.S. indoor championships next month, under present plans. He was beaten in the final round of this event last year by the bounding Basque, Jean Boryta. The Frenchman may not come over to defend his crown. If he doesn't Hunter will be a stand-out choice to win the title.

Nothing will persuade Tilden or Hunter to play any Davis Cup tennis. "We've had enough," said Hunter, "and will withdraw to permit the development of a team of younger players."

English Ruggers Beat Australia In Test Battle

Rochdale, Eng., Jan. 16.—England defeated Australia in a rugby test match here yesterday by 3-0 points.

Four test matches have been played this winter between teams representing England and a touring Australian side, England winning two, Australia one, while one game was drawn.

Local Ruggers To Hold Practice At Armories To-night

With the weather making out-door practices out of the question, the Victoria "rep" rugby team has decided to switch its training grounds for to-night's workout from Oak Bay Park to the Armories. It was announced last night. The practice will commence at 7:30 o'clock.

All players are reminded that they must attend the practice in order to stand a chance of making the team.

Locals Confident Of Taking Varsity Squads Into Camp

With Strong Basketball, Rugby, Golf, Hockey and Soccer Teams Selected, College Will Attempt to Maintain Reputation; Rugby Teams Hoping for Break in Weather in Order That Grounds Will Be in Playable Condition.

Despite the freezing weather which has been tying up sport in the city during the week, athletes of Victoria College are preparing consistently for their return invasion against the University of British Columbia on February 7 and 8.

Basketball teams are the only squads that can get in any direct practices, but members of the other sports aggregations are keeping in shape and waiting for the weather to break to give them a chance to hold their regular practices.

When the local students crossed the gulf last year to meet their traditional rivals, they were forced to forego the rugby game, considered the feature fixture of the invasion. This year, unless the weather breaks, they may have to postpone the trip in order to include all the outdoor activities in their schedule. Word from Vancouver shows the Terminal City sports grounds in poor condition, but within the next two weeks a change in the weather would afford ample time to give the mainlanders a chance to get them into shape.

SCOTT OFF TO MEET SHARKEY

British Heavyweight Tells Of "Secret Punch" That Will Beat Former Gob

London, Jan. 16.—Carrying away from England his "secret punch," and the admonitions of numerous fight fans not to keep it too secret, Phil Scott set out from Londontown yesterday to fight Jack Sharkey at Miami.

Grimacing cheerfully, Scott surveyed the rows of spectators presented to him by crowds of admirers at Waterloo Station. Incidentally, Waterloo did not carry any foreboding to Scott, as he said the Miami Waterloo would be his.

One sparring partner, manager, and the "secret punch" composed the Scott expedition sailing on the Homeric from Southampton, hoping to be back in England in springtime with a claim on the first world's heavyweight crown, to come to these shores since the days of the knuckle fighter.

Scott did not demonstrate his secret punch before entraining, but insisted that he had it with him.

"I know the punch that's going to beat Sharkey. I've got it," he said, as he kissed his young wife good-bye and started for the train. "I'll go for Sharkey from the start and see if I can't knock him out. He's the sort of man I like to fight. He rushes in. That sort are grand for a man who can use his left."

KEEPS PUNCH SECRET

Scott did not demonstrate his secret punch before entraining, but insisted that he had it with him.

"I know the punch that's going to beat Sharkey. I've got it," he said, as he kissed his young wife good-bye and started for the train. "I'll go for Sharkey from the start and see if I can't knock him out. He's the sort of man I like to fight. He rushes in. That sort are grand for a man who can use his left."

STRONGER SQUAD

In Vancouver they will be forced to meet a stronger aggregation than that which held them to a draw here, since several of the British boys who will be in the Terminal City, who were not able to come over for the U.B.C. invasion here, Monty Wood, a winger who played for the Mocheville Cup team, will captain the squad, which possibly include Melmoy, former star for College, Derye and McGee, both graduates of the University School, as well as Roy Macdonald and other Victoria boys.

In the basketball section of the programme, the city's prospects look brighter. Victoria's boys and women's teams from college succeeded in breaking up the combination of the visiting squads here during the invasion, they have the prospects of meeting weaker quintettes than those that performed against them earlier in the month. The big shake-up in deep teams which followed the Christmas examinations has detracted from Varsity's strength in this sport. However, if they feel they are no match for the Victoria teams, the Vancouver students and Jan in some of the senior "B" men and women against the locals.

LOCAL GOLFERS FAVORED

Little anxiety is felt over the ability of the College golf team to hold its own against Varsity if it is able to play. Here, the Craigdarroch boys put up a finished display which quite eclipsed the showing of the visitors. They are expected to be equally as good when they go to Vancouver.

Similarly in the women's grass hockey, Victoria is counted upon to gain a victory. The girls have been showing fine form during the season and proved too much for the U.B.C. here.

In soccer, College will be up against a first-class team. If reports from Varsity are correct, the Vancouver University has developed a fast, tricky eleven that should make Victoria play all out all the way.

While it is known that Varsity will have a larger number of athletes from which to choose their teams than they did in Victoria, the local squads expect to maintain the reputation they have gained from former performances in the Terminal City and should return with several victories to their credit.

Pollard Sisters And O. Findlay Take Handicaps

With cold weather sending several of the club's swimmers out skating, little competition was seen in the weekly handicaps staged by the V.A.S.C. at the Crystal Garden last night.

In the men's events Bill Findlay gained three first places, while in the women's swins, Winnie and Betty Pollard shared the honors.

Results of the races follow:

Fifty yards, handicap, women—1, Betty Pollard; 2, Winnie Pollard; 3, Edith Stevenson. Time, 45.

Fifty yards, handicap, men—1, Bill Findlay; 2, Ted Slingby; 3, W. T. M. Barrett. Time, 39.

Two hundred yards, free style, women—1, Winnie Pollard; 2, Betty Pollard; 3, "Sunny" Bravender. Time, 3:45.

One hundred yards, free style, men—1, Bill Findlay; 2, Ted Slingby. Time, 1:15.

All players are reminded that they must attend the practice in order to stand a chance of making the team.

One-sided Scores Seen As Hoop Teams Resume Play

Sons, Red Birds And Keating Notch Up Easy Victories

Keating Gains Undisputed Leadership of Senior "C" Division by 34-17 Victory Over Motor Mechanics; Red Birds Run Through Standards for 40-1 Win; Sons of Canada Push J.B.A.A. Deeper Into Cellar By Taking Them Into Camp 33-10.

City League basketball teams resumed their schedule with three games at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium last night. All the clubs have been taking an enforced rest through the recent holidays. The fixtures were featured by one-sided scores, all the winners chalking up easy victories.

In the feature game the Sons of Canada pushed the J.B.A.A. into the cellar in the Senior "B" division by handing them a 33-10 defeat. The Boys have yet to chalk up a win in the league. The Red Birds had little trouble taking the Standards into camp and the 40-1 score indicates the trend of play. In the opening game Keating won over a greatly improved Motor Mechanic five 34-17, to gain undisputed leadership of the Senior "C" division.

Unable to withstand the fast pace set in the second half the Motor Mechanics passed entirely out of the picture in their game with Keating. The first half was even and at half time the winners were only leading 12-11. Ray Kersey with twenty-one points was the leading scorer for the winners, while Bill Hill collected thirteen for the losers.

Jack Taylor refereed. The teams and individual scores follow: Motor Mechanics—Hill 13, Williams 2, Jones 2, Woods and Graves. Keating—Mitchell 2, D. Bates 4, Sykes 2, Kersey 21, S. Bates 4 and Cunningham 1.

RED BIRDS TOO GOOD
Scoring practically at will, the Red Birds were given a nice workout by the Standards and the final score could have been taken into higher totals had the winners pressed from the beginning. The first half saw the Red Birds run in sixteen points without a reply from the Standards and the second half was practically a repetition, with the winners getting twenty-four points, while the losers were unable to score.

McLarnin's Bout With Mandell Is Off Till Feb. 28

Chicago, Jan. 16.—The third match between Jimmy McLarnin of Vancouver and Sammy Mandell, scheduled for the Chicago Stadium February 4, probably will not be held until February 28, owing to a conflict of dates on the pugilistic calendar, it was revealed today.

Both Twin Sons Of Doug Brennan, Hockey Star, Dead

Vancouver, Jan. 16.—Frank Patrick, skipper of the Vancouver Lions in the P.C.H.L., received a wire from Doug Brennan, captain of the Lions, from Havelock, Ont., this morning stating that both of his infant twin sons had died. The first died on Tuesday and the other yesterday, an hour after Brennan's arrival at his home. Brennan said he would remain with his wife a week before returning to the coast. For to-morrow night's game against Victoria, Doug Cummings, who has been out of action for a week through injuries, will again be in action, bringing the team up to full strength with the exception of Brennan. Victoria plays here again next Monday.

Bobby Jones On Golf

Walker Cup Matches Close When Played on English Soil

On May 15 and 16, 1930, at Royal St. George's, Sandwich, on the Channel Coast of England, the Walker Cup match will be played for the sixth time. This will be the seventh meeting between golf teams representing the United States and Great Britain, beginning with the first unofficial match at Hoylake in 1921. I think it can be said truthfully that these meetings have done more for golf and have been enjoyed by the contestants more than any competitions in which they have engaged.

The United States team will probably be selected at the January meeting of the U.S.G.A., but no intimation can yet have been made concerning its personnel. It appears certain that at least four of the members, perhaps more, will be veterans who have played abroad at least once before. That is well, for on a course like Sandwich knowledge of golf under adverse conditions is indispensable. The remainder of our team must remain uncertain until final selection, but it is safe to say I think that some new blood will be injected.

OUTMET, SWEETEST VETERANS
The team which started in 1922 had four members left in 1929, the same being Outmet, who has played in all five Walker Cup matches; Sweetest, who has likewise played in five; Evans and myself, who have taken part in three and four, respectively. The original team has filled thirty places during the five matches and only nine additional men have played at all. But these nine additional include Harrison Johnston and George Van Elm, two of our brightest stars today.

It is safe to say that a fine team will be selected, and if all of them are able to make the trip, America will be capably represented at Sandwich when the amateur championship of St. Andrew's is well. But it is equally safe to say that she will need capable representation. Beating a British team in Great Britain is far different from beating one in America, as a comparison of America's margins of victory will indicate. We have won the three matches played in America by four, six and ten points, respectively, and have emerged victor in each of the two at St. Andrew's by but a single point.

WIND MAY UPSET PLAYERS
This has been for two reasons. First and foremost, that from various causes a sufficient number of leading British players have never been able to make the journey over here; and second, because under family conditions we enjoy an advantage over them which is in turn transferred to our opponents when playing on their soil.

St. Andrew's is a real test, but I anticipate that the American team will suffer more from unfamiliar playing conditions than ever before. We may be lucky enough to find pleasant weather at Sandwich. I understand that such a thing has been known to happen on rare occasions. But if we are treated to weather such as we found there during the Gold Vase competition in 1928, we shall be in for quite a bad time. George Von Elm was the only American able to hold his feet. He finished with a very creditable score around 100 and lost by only one or two strokes. But the wind blew the rest of us out to sea, and when we finally made the clubhouse we found that spaces between caddy-fives and ninety-five on the scoreboard embraced almost the entire American team. Naturally, we shall have to do better than that even in a case of wind.

Most of the Walker Cup team will probably stay over for the amateur championship at St. Andrew's beginning on May 25. A few of these may remain to compete in the open at Hoylake on June 16. It ought to be a busy and a very interesting two months. (Copyright, 1930, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

George Trafton To Meet Rudy Hoffman

Chicago, Jan. 16.—George Trafton, only known conqueror of Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires, will make his second stand in the prize ring tonight by tackling Rudy Hoffman, Chicago lifeguard and physical culture instructor, in a four-round battle at the Jai Alai Club.

The big football player will outweigh Hoffman by thirty pounds.

SHIRES WILL MEET LANDIS

Czar of Baseball Expected to Put Stop to Art's Professional Boxing

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Organized baseball's first move to prohibit its players from engaging in professional boxing contests is expected Saturday, when Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis confers with Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires.

While Commissioner Landis has refused to discuss the question, it is known he has been displeased with the professional boxing venture of Shires and other baseball players this winter and will seek up his displeasure by demanding a halt immediately. Shires had intimated he will take the fatherly but stern advice Commissioner Landis is certain to give him Saturday and then forget boxing for baseball.

After his conference with Landis, it all goes well, Shires will apply for re-entry to the White Sox who suspended him last season because of his second fight with the then manager, "Doc" Blackburne.

Willie Davies Signs For Bout With Steve Rocco

Toronto, Jan. 16.—"Wee Willie" Davies, flyweight prize of Charlottetown, signed yesterday to meet Steve Rocco, local Italian flyweight, in the semi-final round of the world's flyweight tournament being conducted by the St. Patrick Athletic Club. The pair will decide who is to enter the final against either Midget Wolcott or Black Hill, finalists in the New York tournament at the Coliseum here January 24. In their previous encounter Davies fell out of the ring in the sixth round and was knocked unconscious. No decision was rendered.

Syracuse Guards Against Short Pass

BY SOL MEZGER

I hear it was Vic Hanson who dropped out this defense for the time out-of-bounds play that Princeton developed. Vic is one of the keenest athletes ever graduated from Syracuse. That he knows how to use the old bean is evident when you look over this masterpiece of defensive basketball strategy. You see when there are three men in line facing their basket with the ball out-of-bounds at the end line of the court, a defense has to be on its toes or take the consequences—two points by the opponents.

Syracuse is on its toes with this defense for any sort of play that may be worked from this combination. As the opponents move, players B and C merely drop back to avoid being checked out of the play, each covering the man who happens to advance into his zone of activity.

This defensive A to follow No. 1 to the rear, B and C, in short, are not worried about the opponents getting a long pass in. That's O. K. But they are worried about one of these opponents receiving a short pass in near the basket. Their move, therefore, practically prevents this and also puts them in position to cover man-to-man in case of a long pass to-morrow we'll go west to California to work over a neat out-of-bounds play conceived by "Nile" Price.

SHIRES LIKES "THE RASPBERRY"

Ballplayer Fighter and Speechmaker Says It Is Music to His Ears

Philadelphia, Jan. 16.—Arthur (The Great) Shires, ball player, fighter and speechmaker, gave his opinion on "the raspberry" handed him by fight fans. At a dinner of the Philadelphia Sports Writers' Association Tuesday night, he said: "I know that in most of my fights the majority of the people pay their money to see me licked. I don't mind that. When I walked down the aisle to the ring in Boston to fight Brother the other night, the raspberry they handed me was music to my ears. 'I get fat on that sort of thing.' In Chicago when I lost to Trafton, I was given a great hooting. But the next day I walked down to the Illinois Boxing Commission and they handed me $5,000."

NEVER MONEY
"The ring was the only means to an end for me. I needed money, saw a way to make it and went after it. I've been in trouble with the boxing commissions of several states. But I want to say this, in baseball I give every-

The Kid Brother

By JIMMY THOMPSON

Chicago, Jan. 16.—As far as hockey is concerned, the Chi-hawks have given the boys a preview of a scare this season. Chicago proved to be the dark horse this year until recently, when they struck a snag during their last few games. The Chi-hawks' defenses have been somewhat of a sensation this season and one of the big reasons is "Duke" Dutkowski, who has starred in the second line. The "Duke" as they call him, has become a great favorite, not only in Chicago, but all around the circuit. Out of the west comes a second "Duke" from the same family. "Duke" the second is what the Regina fans have named him. This promising young player has not only proved that before many years the kid brother will have to look to his laurels but that he may even make him be content with a rear seat. Unless something goes amiss it's more than likely that sport fans all over Canada will hear of "Duke" the second before the Memorial Cup games are finished this year.

ABOUT THE TIME WHEN SPIDER KELLY'S QUICK WIT SAVED HIM FROM A KNOCKOUT BY GANS

I WAS behind "Spider" Kelly, one of the ring's greatest lightweight—and my friend and associate for forty years—the night of his famous fight with Gans in New York. What a fight! One of the most scientific battles ever seen in Gotham. The Spider, fast and vicious, held the Black Master even for twenty rounds, but Gans, then in his prime, had the Spider weakening in the last five rounds. The last half of the final round found Kelly so weakened that ringiders were betting on whether he'd last it out.

Suddenly, the Spider stopped, and looked squarely into Gans's eyes. "You blankety-blank!" he shouted. "It's blankety lucky for you that this fight isn't ten rounds longer!" Gans's eyes popped out, and he stepped back. "Lorcy, listen to what that man's saying," he muttered, as though dazed. "Never mind what I'm saying," retorted the Spider. "I sure was a blankety-blank to let you stay as long as I did."

Joe opened his mouth, but as he started to speak, the bell rang, ending the fight.

Gans won the decision, but the foxy Spider had talked the Old Master out of a knockout.

THE NIGHT Tom Sharkey fought Peter Maher—also at the Lenox Club in Lexington Avenue, New York—Peter, a terrific fighter, floored Tom just as the bell rang in the third round. We dragged the prostrate sailor to the corner, and I revived him with ammonia.

"I'll lick the three of them next round!" he declared, as he opened his eyes and glared at Peter's corner.

"Just pick out the middle one," I advised him.

THE BOXING game is full of peculiar characters and funny incidents as well as thrills. Many of the most humorous are spontaneous outbursts during the heat of the fight; heard only by the referee, seconds and some of the boys in the press row.

The late Eddie Graney, world famous referee, who refereed most of the big fights out west, was officiating at a battle between two negroes. One boy was knocked down with a crushing blow. Graney was well into his count when the prone boxer motioned the referee over to him.

"Misfah Referee," he moaned, "if yo' goun' count till ah gits up, you all's gwine run outta numbahs."

I WAS seconding Dave Sullivan, Irish lightweight, against Kid Broad in a twenty-five-round fight in the old Broadway Club, New York. It was a bitter battle, each man determined to win. But still there was a friendly feeling between Dave and the Kid. In an early round, Sullivan caught Broad on the chin and floored him.

"Gee, Dave, that was a corker," Broad remarked, looked up while taking the count.

A few minutes later, Broad knocked Sullivan down. And while Dave was taking a count, he came back with: "Geeb, Kid, that wasn't half bad; no air, not half bad."

MY OLD friend Langford stuck his hand out to his opponent, another gentleman of color, in the second round of a ten-round bout. "What's de matter?" the opponent asked. "Dia ain't the last round."

"Tis for you, black boy," Sam responded, and he knocked him cold to make his word good.

Ruth and Other Members of Yanks Mailed Contracts

New York, Jan. 16.—The New York Yankees have mailed contracts to Babe Ruth and thirty other players. The document sent to the home run king is for a term of two years and calls for a salary of $75,000 a year. Recently the club decided these terms and left for Florida, a holdout for $85,000. Four players in good standing will not receive contracts in 30-day's mail. Lou Gehrig, first baseman; Henry Johnson and George Pipgras, pitchers, will serve under holdover contracts in 1930, and Ben Chapman, third baseman, signed when he was in New York for a Christmas holiday appendicitis operation.

CAPITALS DEFEATED UP-ISLAND

Suffer 32-31 Defeat at Hands of Duncan in Island Knock-out Competition

Harmony Girls Win Way to Finals By 31-23 Victory Over Duncan Squad

Duncan and Victoria divided the two Vancouver Island knockout basketball games played at Duncan last night, the Capitals dropping a close game to the Duncan senior men 32-31, while the Harmony women gave the Duncan women their walking tickets as far as this competition is concerned when they walked off the floor on the long end of a 24-21 score.

Putting on a great rally in the final minutes of their game the Capitals caused Ed. Evans and his band of Duncan ballplayers many anxious moments. Just when the Up-Islanders figured the game was nicely tucked away. With five minutes left to play, Duncan held what appeared to be a safe lead when they were on the long end of a 31-23 score. At this stage in the game Norm Forbes scored two baskets from close in, while Tommy Forbes got one from near centre and another from right underneath the hoop to leave the Victoria boys one point down as Dirom scored on a technical foul.

Duncan's early lead gained in the first half when they led 17-9, was all that saved them from defeat, as all the Capitals outplayed them in the final twenty minutes.

The teams and individual scores follow: Duncan—MacDonald 6, Fletcher 4, A. Dirom 1, J. Dirom 1, McNeil 2, H. Talbot 2, and L. Talbot 2.

Capitals—N. Forbes 7, Tervo 1, A. Webster 5, J. McKenzie, T. Forbes 18 and A. Cudlip.

HARMONY IN FINAL
Bob Whyte's Harmony basketball quintette won a hard fought game from the Duncan women to win the right to meet the Victoria girls in the final of the Lower Island division here. At half time the teams were tied at twelve all, and it was early in the third quarter that the Victoria girls took the lead that split victory.

Right after the commencement of the second half the Harmony went to work and baskets by Ann Peck and Elsie Mathews gave them an eight-point lead. In the final quarter the Harmony were able to stand off the determined rally of the Up-Island five.

Tommy Forbes refereed. The teams and individual scores follow: Duncan—R. Weeks 10, I. Castley 11, U. Fletcher, I. Stock, J. Weeks and G. Stock.

Harmony—M. Feden 12, I. Alexander, G. Matthews 2, J. Speed, A. Lalonde, R. and B. Armstrong.

"BLUE BLAZER" PUBLISHED ON BUS SERVICE

A new publication made its appearance in Victoria today. It is named The Blue Blazer, and is published by the Royal Blue Line Bus Service for distribution among passengers of these lines.

The Blue Blazer sets forth the claim of the Blue Line as pioneers in modern bus services here, and indicates the service being given to residents of outlying areas.

The new publication will henceforth make its appearance every Tuesday morning.

SUIT HANGS OVER AIR PRIZE AWARD

Through the slotted wing which partly made it possible for the Curtiss Tanager biplane, pictured below, to pass the tests of the Guggenheim Safe Aircraft Competition has been declared an infringement of patent rights in a suit filed by British aircraft manufacturers, the $100,000 prize for the safest aeroplane was awarded to the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Company anyhow. Above is shown the ceremony as Capt. E. A. Land, left, vice-president of the Guggenheim Fund, handed the $100,000 cheque to C. M. Keys, president of the Curtiss interests, at Mitchel Field, Long Island. The close-up view of the plane shows clearly the wing slots, now in dispute, and the "floating airfoils" which are said to enable the plane to maintain a lateral balance at extremely low speeds.

ROTHERMERE IS NOT FOR DUTIES ON FOODSTUFFS

He Says He Supports Beaverbrook For British Conservative Leadership

New York, Jan. 16.—Lord Rothermere substantially but not completely endorses Lord Beaverbrook's empire trade policy, but he is opposed to any move to impose duties on agricultural products and does not believe the empire can be made an economic unit at one jump.

This, he believes, will have to come, if it does come, by stages. At present he is concentrating on securing a high protective tariff in Great Britain on manufactured goods with no suggestion of an import on foodstuffs.

The British newspaper magnate arrived here yesterday for what he termed a brief holiday in New York. His name has recently been linked with that of Lord Beaverbrook, the other great British newspaper owner, who was born in Canada, because of their agreement on some political issues. He had little to say himself, but authorized one of his party to explain his views on British politics to the Canadian Press.

FREE FARM PRODUCTS

The old political battle cry of cheap food, on which all British protectionist policies have been founded in the past, is still powerful, he feels. For this reason his tariff proposals are confined to manufactured goods, and he expressly stipulates that agricultural products must be admitted into Britain free from all countries. Arrangements might be worked out, he thinks, by which the Dominions might receive a rebate of duties paid on manufactured goods in return for concessions accorded British trade. But the essential point of his fiscal policy is a universal tariff on manufactures.

This is necessary, he maintains, because foreign competitors are now making inroads not only into Great Britain's foreign trade, but are successfully invading the domestic market. He instanced the cotton industry and named Belgium, Japan and Czechoslovakia as the chief rivals of British industry.

LEADERSHIP QUESTION

Lord Rothermere believes there should be another Canadian Prime Minister of Great Britain. He names Lord Beaverbrook for the leadership of the Conservative Party and believes he could gain power on a protectionist policy.

His support of the Canadian-born peer comes from dissatisfaction with what he considers the vacillating leadership of the Conservative Party.

Old Dutch Cleanser chases dirt—

and safeguards your family with Healthful Cleanliness

Old Dutch Cleanser homes are healthful homes

Old Dutch Cleanser protects your home with Healthful Cleanliness because it removes the dangerous invisible impurities as well as the visible uncleanness. Old Dutch chases all dirt—none is left behind.

There is nothing else like Old Dutch. To the eye it looks like a fine powder but through the microscope you see thousands of flaky, flat-shaped particles of distinctive character. These particles possess natural detergent qualities—they erase the dirt.

This drawing of a highly magnified Old Dutch particle illustrates how completely and safely Old Dutch works. Being flat-shaped, these particles make a perfect contact with the surface. They make a clean sweep and leave the surface smooth and free from scratches. Old Dutch doesn't harm the hands.

Old Dutch doesn't scratch. Avoid damaging grit. This drawing shows a highly magnified particle of hard, scratchy grit at work. Being of irregular shape the sharp, hard points dig into the surface and leave scratches which not only mar its beauty but are lodging places for dirt and impurities.

On the Occasion of the "Sea Festival" at the Empress Hotel

The fact that the popularity of the Willis line of pianos is so fully appreciated by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company is further demonstrated by their selection and use of Willis and Knabe instruments for the Sea Festival.

Mrs. Gertrude Huntly Green

Who is one of the artists at the Festival, will be heard on the Knabe Concert Grand, which is a duplicate of the one purchased from us and of which she writes as follows:

Dear Mr. Willis:

It gives me the greatest pleasure to tell you how delighted I am with the Knabe Grand, which you so kindly selected for me in New York.

It has, without doubt, the most beautiful tone of any instrument I have ever played on and is an inspiration to me.

Yours faithfully,

(Signed) GERTRUDE HUNTLY GREEN.

In recent years and from his confidence in the ability of his rival publisher, Lord Beaverbrook's spectacular financial career in Canada and his rapid rise to power in the British publishing field, he considers, prove him capable of political leadership. While Lord Beaverbrook said recently he would support the present Conservative leader, Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, if the latter would adopt the empire free trade policy, Lord Rothermere will not join him in this. His spokesman said he would not support Mr. Baldwin under any circumstances.

The Labor Government, Lord Rothermere feels, deserves a great deal of credit for what it has done in connection with naval disarmament. Lord Rothermere and his party will spend about ten days in New York and then return to Great Britain. He will not go to Canada.

Will Launch First C.N. Ship To-morrow

Miss Ishbel MacDonald Will Be Sponsor for New Prince Henry at Birkenhead To-morrow; Ship is First of Three for Service on British Columbia Coast; Due Here in June.

London, Jan. 15.—The first of three new passenger steamers for the British Columbia coast, the Prince Henry, will be launched to-morrow at the shipbuilding plant of Messrs. Cammell, Laird and Company at Birkenhead for the Canadian National Railways.

Miss Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of the Prime Minister of Great Britain, will officiate at the launching, and will swing the traditional bottle of champagne against the bow of the new ship as she slides down the ways into the water. The other two ships, the Prince Robert and the Prince David, will be ready for launching shortly. All three of the ships will be in service on the north Pacific Coast early in the summer.

The new Prince Henry is scheduled to take her first trip on this coast on July 4, when she will leave Vancouver for Alaska. The Prince Henry will be in this service all summer, while the other two steamers will operate in a tripartite service between Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle. No schedule for this run has yet been released, but one is expected to be drawn up shortly. The Prince Henry will be given her trial runs in March, and will then leave for Vancouver by way of the Panama Canal, arriving there the first week in June. It is not expected she will call at Victoria on her inbound trip, but will probably come here before entering service to Alaska. The Prince Henry is scheduled to make the return trip from Vancouver to Skagway in seven days, while the Prince Rupert and the Prince George will take ten days.

which is now traveling from Bombay to California in the course of a cruise around the world with 400 passengers from Canada, the United States and England. After visiting in the Orient, the Empress will steam across the Pacific to Honolulu and San Francisco before proceeding through the Panama Canal to New York, from where she sailed on her cruise on December 2.

Capt. Griffiths Of Seattle Off On World Trip

Capt. James Griffiths, president of the Coastwise Steamship & Barge Company of Seattle, and ex-commander of the Seattle Yacht Club, sailed from San Francisco yesterday aboard the new N.Y.K. motorliner Asama Maru for Japan on the first leg of a trip which will take him around the world. He is accompanied by Mrs. Griffiths and together they will visit interesting places in the Orient and the Straits Settlements, in India and Africa, and before returning to their home in Seattle will spend some time in Paris and London. They will travel between Orient ports and India and the Mediterranean on various President liners of the Dollar Steamship Company.

Capt. Griffiths, who is one of the veteran shipping men of the Pacific Coast, is a frequent visitor to Victoria with Mrs. Griffiths in his magnificent power cruiser Suez III, which he had built in Hongkong a few years ago. She is one of the finest pleasure yachts on the Pacific Coast and during the summer months visits Victoria several times a week.

SEATTLE SHIPPING

Seattle, Jan. 15.—The largest ship to enter the Alaskan trade, the Aleutian, purchased on the Atlantic seaboard to replace a ship of the same name lost last year, will replace the Northwestern on the southwest Alaska route.

The Northwestern will operate thereafter to Southeast Alaska points. Eight special cruises to various scenic parts of Alaska next summer were announced by the company.

R. C. Thacker, chairman of the U.S. Westbound Conference, ended meetings here yesterday with traffic men and representatives of conference lines, and left to-night for Portland.

He will go to San Francisco, leaving there about January 22 for his New York headquarters.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, Jan. 15.—Two off-shore liners, both with full cargoes and large passenger lists, sailed from here at noon yesterday. They were the Matsonia, which left for Honolulu, and the Asama Maru, bound for the Orient.

The Asama, making her second outbound voyage from this port, carried out a total of 477 passengers. She will be drydocked at Nagasaki upon her arrival at that port for an inspection by the builders. This will be the final survey of the new motor liner before the end of the guarantee period.

Captain James Griffiths of Seattle, one of the most picturesque characters in maritime shipping circles on the Pacific Coast, sailed from here yesterday on the Asama Maru on the first leg of a trip around the world. Captain Griffiths, who is close to seventy years old, has been closely identified with Pacific Coast shipping since the days of the clipper ships.

ROTHWELL—John Rotherwell, late of 914 Oliver Street, passed away on January 15 at the Royal Jubilee Hospital. Funeral will be held at 3 p.m. on Saturday from the B.C. Funeral Parlors, 356-1-13

IN MEMORIAM

WALKER—In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Robert Hamilton Walker, who was called to his eternal home January 16, 1926 (on his way to his early home and dear ones), committed his body to the City Police Department, where he had been a faithful member for thirty-seven years. Ever dearly remembered and sadly missed by his widow and two sons and grandchildren, and all who knew him.

PASSED BEYOND THE VEIL

When God calls home the dear ones whom we love To dwell with Him in perfect peace above, We cannot feel that he has leaved the earth, Which bound our human hearts on earth, so true.

Find comfort in the thought that they may be My guardian angels keeping watch o'er me, For sometimes when my heart and I need them, I feel their loving hands seem to hover very near, I almost feel the touch of each dear hand upon my head.

My own to help me understand, I still am theirs and they are mine, even though They dwell in Heaven, I on earth below, They dwell in Heaven, I on earth below.

No broken link, but just a veil between My earthly vision and that world unseen, A little time to wait while loved ones there Keep tender watch o'er me till I may share Their perfect peace and God's most perfect love.

Known unto those who dwell with Him above, —Margaret Jean Walker, Inserted by her Widow and Two Sons.

TO INVESTIGATE CYCLIST'S DEATH

Inquest on Body of John Rothwell, Sixty, to Be Held To-morrow

An inquest over the body of John Rothwell, sixty-year-old cyclist who died at the Jubilee Hospital last night following an accident, will be held to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock in the B.C. Funeral Parlour, Coroner E. C. Hart announced this morning.

Mr. Rothwell fell from his bicycle on January 8 when he was reported to have been hit by an automobile driven on Pandora Avenue by Capt. E. M. McBrayne. The aged cyclist was pushing his bicycle on the street at the time.

He is survived by the widow, residing at 914 Oliver Street.

Accounting And Damages Are Sought

A claim for damages for alleged breach of contract, and for an accounting, opened before Mr. Justice Gregory in the Supreme Court to-day, with J. B. Clearhouse for the plaintiff, Lester Drysdale; and R. A. Woolton for the defendant, Geraldine P. Clark.

The action concerns a difference over a disputed agreement under which a company was to have been created to manufacture a duplicating device. The plaintiff is asking damages for alleged breach of contract, and for an accounting of all matters outstanding between the parties.

A number of witnesses were called this morning, as the hearing proceeds.

TRESPASS IS ASSERTED IN APPEAL SUIT

Encroachment of Three and a Quarter Inches Led to Court Test

An action over the alleged encroachment on an adjoining property to the extent of three and a quarter inches, complainant of an act of building trespass, was on review before the Court of Appeal this morning, in the hearing of Clark versus McKenzie.

Argument is proceeding on the extent of the trespass alleged. The appeal is one from a judgment of Mr. Justice Gregory, who dismissed their action for declaration that the $12,000 mortgage on the South Hill Baptist Church, Vancouver, had been fully paid up and discharged, will follow the case at bar. The convention of Baptist Churches in B.C., named as the defendant respondent.

At the close of argument in the action of Hall versus Gelfer yesterday afternoon, the appeal was fixed by the trial judge. The action was one for damages for alleged libel, dismissed in the lower court on the ground there had been no cause of action down in the pleadings.

The peremptory trial includes Clark versus McKenzie (at bar); Kerschner versus the Convention of Baptist Churches in B.C.; Schoenmeier versus King et al.

SAYS ROTARY CAN ADVANCE CANADIANISM

Dr. R. Irving of Kamloops Urges Campaign For the Naturalization of Aliens

Canadian History to Be Rewritten to Apportion Credit For Nation's Growth

Development of a pride in Canadian citizenship among newcomers of foreign extraction was discussed by Dr. Robert Irving of Kamloops this afternoon in an address before the Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel.

Discussing the work of the Canadian Advisory Council on Rotary, on which he is the British Columbia representative, Dr. Irving recalled that the council had been first suggested at the Lake Umbagog convention to promote a campaign for the naturalization of the Canadian and United States Rotary Clubs. International Rotary had later named a committee of five Canadians to tender advice on international matters, and results had proven highly satisfactory. Creation of similar groups in nearly all countries where Rotary is active has since been undertaken.

The proposed citizenship campaign by Rotary clubs would interfere in no way with the activities of such bodies as the Canadian clubs, Dr. Irving said. He told of plans for a campaign to induce desirable aliens, now resident in Canada, to take out naturalization papers.

Development of a national spirit had grown since in Canada, and he expected that when the next census was taken, Canadian-born citizens would be able, for the first time, to describe themselves as "Canadian."

HISTORY REWRITTEN

"When you consider that we have in Canada a young country which is going to have a great place in the world, you will realize that Canadian history must be studied," said Dr. Irving. "In a few years Canadian history is going to be rewritten, to show the influence of the various nationalities on Canada and her people. That history yet to be written will be from the viewpoint of the Rotarians to the extent that it will give fair play to the influence of all nationalities in the development of Canadian ideas."

"That is the object of the Canadian advisory council. If you came into this country as a foreigner, and the only time you were asked to become a citizen was when an election was pending, that condition would not look good enough to you," Dr. Irving said.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP

He considered that if foreigners were to be successfully absorbed nationally, it must be done in a spirit of good fellowship. Men invited to accept citizenship must be educated and intelligent men of the type who, when asked the nationality would proudly say: "I am a Canadian."

He told of a Doukhobor party, organized to raise funds for furnishings for a new school, which was attended by the local Rotarians in a body.

"By eating that luncheon the Rotarians had taken the first step to overcome political prejudice and to show for the province, the gesture having been warmly appreciated by the Doukhobor community," Dr. Irving said. "If the history to be written in the future does not show that our Rotary clubs have done our part towards absorbing in Canadian life these foreign newcomers, that history will record that we have, to that extent, failed in our duty," Dr. Irving said, urging attention be given the matter as soon as possible.

TRINITY COLLEGE NATIONS

J. R. Agar of West Westminster said twenty-four nationalities were represented in one of the schools of his city. He believed the schools to be the chief medium through which foreign residents could be interested in the land in which they lived. The schools should, therefore, give particular attention to studies bearing on citizenship and Canada's history.

Warm welcomes were accorded Frank H. Lamb of Hoquiam, Wash., a past district governor, and W. N. Kelly of Vancouver, a former member of the Victoria Rotary Club.

Dr. J. S. Plaskett will be sent a letter of congratulation upon being named to the medal of the Royal Astronomical Society.

CANADIAN CLUB TO HEAR ADDRESS BY DR. PLASKETT

Dr. J. S. Plaskett, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain, will be the guest of the Victoria Canadian Club at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel on Friday, January 24. Dr. Plaskett was recently awarded the gold medal of the Royal Astronomical Society and will deliver the George Dawson lecture in May when he will be formally presented with the medal at a banquet in London.

E. V. Larson of Tug Protector Died Suddenly

(Special To The Times)

Lady Smith, Jan. 16.—Ernest Victor Larson died suddenly Tuesday evening on the tugboat Protector, of which he was chief engineer.

The deceased was fifty-six years of age and had been working for the Monarch Towing and Trading Company for twenty-three years. For seven years he had been on the Protector.

Death was due to heart failure. The remains were removed to Jenkin's Undertaking Parlor, Nanaimo, and later shipped to New Westminster.

The deceased was survived by his widow and four children, resident in New Westminster.

The original manuscript of "Deutschland Deber Alles," the famous German national hymn, was recently discovered about 1815. It was written in 1814.

BLUE LINE ORDERS SIX NEW BUSES

First of Luxurious Fleet of Coaches to Arrive in City Monday

A fleet of new coaches for service on the lines of the Royal Blue Line Bus Services is now on order and the first one will be put into operation within the next ten days. It was announced this morning by Sidney Sangster, manager of the Blue Line.

Carrying from twenty-one to thirty-five passengers, these buses are the most modern street-car style of motor coach. Roomy seats, wide aisles, and spacious panels, giving unobstructed vision, are features.

Six coaches are to be obtained for service on the Haulian and Oak Bay routes. The first of these, a Dodge Graham coach of the same type used by the street railway system in Detroit will be here next Monday and will be put into operation two or three days afterwards.

Five other buses of the G.M.C. type will be forwarded to the city as soon as possible. The first is expected within the next month and it is expected that all will be in service by the end of March.

DEATH CALLS MRS. McLAREN

Well-known Nonagenarian Passed Away To-day; Here Seventeen Years

After an illness of only a few days, Mrs. Catherine McLaren, widow of the late John R. McLaren, died peacefully away at her home, 23 Logan Avenue, this morning. Had she lived until Sunday, Mrs. McLaren would have attained the age of ninety-two years.

Born in Ireland, the late Mrs. McLaren had been a resident of Victoria for the last seventeen years. Her husband preceded her in 1916, and she is survived by four sons, S. J. McLaren of Tampa, Fla., W. G. McLaren of Chicago, R. F. McLaren of Helena, Montana; Frederick M. McLaren of Victoria; four daughters, Mrs. C. W. Bradshaw, Mrs. Harry Lasenby of Victoria, and Miss Kate McLaren of Kelowna, B.C., and the remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Services were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel over the remains of William Henry Shaw, who passed away Sunday evening. Members of Court Northern Light, A.O.F., attended in a body to show their respect to a departed brother. Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick officiated, and the hymns sung were "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Lead, Kindly Light." At the graveside, W. F. Fullerton, acting funeral director, read the A.O.F. burial service. George Croxworth, W. G. Davidson, W. B. Christopher, A. Wallcott, C. Wolfert and George E. Fox acted as pallbearers, and the remains were laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

NEW CABLE TO SPEED SERVICE

Victoria Exchange Will Make Vancouver Connections Shortly

Stringing of the Vancouver Island portion of the fourth telephone cable between Victoria and the mainland has been completed, the cable running from the city to Swartz Bay.

Erection of the cable between Roberts Bay and the Seymour exchange in Vancouver is now proceeding and is expected to be completed before the first section of the submarine cable arrives early in February.

The new cable will enable the British Columbia Telephone Company to give almost instant service between Victoria and mainland long distance points.

Following completion of the new link a direct call system between Victoria and Vancouver will be initiated, enabling Victoria operators to connect local callers with Vancouver numbers without the delay at present required.

ARGUMENT ON BY-LAWS POSTPONED

A. T. Goward and Oak Bay Agree to Adjourn Court Test

Submission of Referendum to Ratepayers Will Take Place First

By mutual arrangement of the parties concerned and the consent of Mr. Justice Gregory, argument on the application of A. T. Goward, vice-president of the B.C.E.R. Company Limited in proceedings seeking to quash two motor vehicle by-laws of the Oak Bay municipality relating to bus traffic, was postponed to-day until January 26.

Exercising his right under the Municipal Act, Mr. Goward is acting as private taxpayer of Oak Bay in challenging the two by-laws on the ground that they shut the B.C.E.R. off from operating bus services in Oak Bay.

It is G. S. Helmerman and A. D. King, appearing for Mr. Goward and H. J. Davies, representing the B.C.E.R. Company Limited, who are seeking to quash the two by-laws.

Postponement of argument on the motion to quash the Oak Bay transportation by-laws came, it understood, as a result of the action of the Oak Bay Council to take a referendum on the whole issue.

The referendum will be placed before the ratepayers of that municipality on Saturday, in the following terms: "Are you in favor of the Corporation of the District of Oak Bay entering into an agreement with the Veterans' Sightseeing and Transportation Company Limited (the Blue Line) for granting the said company the exclusive right of operating motor buses within the municipality of Oak Bay, subject to the assent of the Legislature?"

YOUTH FACES MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE HERE

Henry Plater Arraigned in Saanich Court After Fatal Crash on January 9

Henry Plater, twenty-year-old youth, was arraigned before Magistrate George Jay in the Saanich Police Court this morning on a manslaughter charge. The charge arose out of the death of Mrs. Martha Davies, after an automobile accident on the East Saanich Road on January 9.

On request of H. G. S. Helmerman, who appeared for the prosecution, the case was set over until next Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. R. C. Lowe represented the accused.

The youthful accused heard the charge with a strained face, but he half smiled as he caught the comforting glance of his relatives sitting in a corner of the courtroom.

The formal charge read that Henry Plater on January 9 in Saanich did unlawfully kill and slay one, Martha Davies, and did thereby commit manslaughter.

OBITUARY

The funeral of Mr. William Kirby, who passed away last Tuesday at the residence of his son, Captain William Kirby, of 703 Pine Street, will take place on Friday, at 2 o'clock, from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Rev. O. L. Jull will officiate and the remains will be laid to rest in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Ball, who passed away at the family residence, Saanich, will take place on Saturday, at 2 o'clock, from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Rev. P. Conley will officiate and the remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Services were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel over the remains of William Henry Shaw, who passed away Sunday evening. Members of Court Northern Light, A.O.F., attended in a body to show their respect to a departed brother. Rev. Canon F. A. P. George Croxworth, W. G. Davidson, W. B. Christopher, A. Wallcott, C. Wolfert and George E. Fox acted as pallbearers, and the remains were laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Services were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel over the remains of William Henry Shaw, who passed away Sunday evening. Members of Court Northern Light, A.O.F., attended in a body to show their respect to a departed brother. Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick officiated, and the hymns sung were "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Lead, Kindly Light." At the graveside, W. F. Fullerton, acting funeral director, read the A.O.F. burial service. George Croxworth, W. G. Davidson, W. B. Christopher, A. Wallcott, C. Wolfert and George E. Fox acted as pallbearers, and the remains were laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

The funeral of the late Alfred Reed took place from Haywards B.C. Funeral Chapel this morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. T. A. Ramsay officiated and the hymn sung was "Lead, Kindly Light." Many beautiful flowers were received. The pallbearers were: Mr. Cadwallader, W. J. S. Waugh, J. Hanby, S. J. Clark, W. C. Bowden and G. Hanby. Interment was in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Alfred Chadwick Nash of Knapp Island passed away at Sidney yesterday morning, aged sixty-six years. He was a retired rancher and had lived at Knapp Island for the last years. He was survived by one brother, with whom he resided. The funeral will be held from McCall Bros. Funeral Chapel to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Fullerton, Stocken will officiate and interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Mrs. Sarah Matilda McKee, who arrived in the city from Red Deer, Alberta, three months ago, passed away this morning at the family residence, 2109 Florence Street, aged sixty-four years. She is survived by her husband and one daughter, Miss McKee, here; four sons in Alberta, two brothers and four sisters in Ontario, and one son in Manitoba. The remains will be forwarded by McCall Bros. to-morrow night to Red Deer for interment.

The death occurred at the Jubilee Hospital this morning of Philip Turner, of 1234 Richardson Street, aged forty-nine years. He was born in England and is survived by his widow here. The funeral will be held in Monday afternoon, the cortège proceeding from Sands Funeral Chapel at 2:45 o'clock to Christ Church Cathedral, where Rev. C. S. Quinlan will conduct

HOME-BREW FINE OF TWO CENTS PAID IN SEATTLE

(Canadian Press)

Seattle, Jan. 16.—Morris Halverson, twenty, a recent arrival from Canada, was fined two cents in federal court here yesterday for selling home-brew. He paid his fine with a five-cent piece and received three coppers back in change. The fine was declared the smallest ever imposed in a liquor case here. Federal Judge J. Stanley Webster of Spokane extended leniency to the youth, who was reported to be suffering from a chronic illness. Halverson told the court he knew it was against the law to sell whisky in the United States, but did not know prohibition extended to home-brew. Roy Halverson, the youth's brother, who also pleaded guilty to possession and sale of home-brew, was sentenced to serve ninety days in the county jail.

THREE SAANICH AUDIENCES HEAR PUBLIC ISSUES

Candidates Address Meetings
at Gordon Head and St.
Aidan's Hall

School Trustees at Tolmie
School Defend Building
Proposals

Municipal affairs in Saanich were discussed by Reeve Crouch and Frank V. Hobbs, reeve and candidates, at well attended meetings held last night at Gordon Head Hall in Ward Three and at St. Aidan's Hall in Ward One. Reeve Crouch presented his annual report, supplementing the summary of municipal progress with comments upon matters of interest to voters.

At Gordon Head the Reeve stated that he expected the new water agreement with Victoria, to be signed in March, would be satisfactory. Relations between Saanich and Victoria were most amicable, said the Reeve, as was shown by the readiness of Mayor Anscomb to enter into discussions for the permanent settlement of the Elk Lake watershed issue.

The Reeve protested that the upkeep of Memorial Avenue should not become a burden on Saanich and reviewed work done by his administration to improve and complete the work.

BUS COMPLAINT
Ratepayers voted complaints regarding the bus service, and the Reeve offered to join a local deputation appointed to wait on the transportation company.

HOBBS DEFENDS BY-LAWS

Mr. Hobbs considered that serious differences between wards could be avoided by a policy of fairness and pledged himself to deal fairly with all sections if elected as reeve. The candidate said Saanich was about to enter an era of great prosperity, and harmony within the council was essential if all opportunities for advancement were to be seized. He would make no promises as to policies, other than to be fair to all.

Mr. Hobbs briefly discussed the school by-laws, announcing himself as being in full support of the proposed building plans. He considered that circumstances had compelled the School Board to follow the course taken and the scheme presented to the ratepayers was fair to all sections of Saanich. If the by-laws failed at the polls on Saturday new by-laws would be submitted at an early date, he stated.

COUNCILLOR WATSON

Councillor G. F. Watson reported on the affairs of Ward Three during the year. He denounced inequalities in road grants allotted wards, declared that Marine Drive should be one of the highways to be taken over by the Government and demanded expenditure of money from general revenue on Shelbourne Street to prevent ruin by neglect of Memorial Avenue. Councillor Watson considered the patronage enjoyed by the buses serving Gordon Head warranted a better service.

The building programme of the School Board was vigorously criticized, the councillor pointing out that he was in favor of a good high school but opposed to the by-laws to be voted on next Saturday. He declared that the final cost to Saanich of the five additions to the school system would amount to more than $200,000 instead of the $120,000 now sought by the School Board.

COUNCILLOR STUBBS

William Stubbs, councillor for Ward Four and now seeking election in Ward Three, said his candidature was a test of the strength of Mr. Watson. If defeated this year he would re-enter the list next year. In the meantime he was introducing himself and adding to the friends who had urged him to run in the ward.

F. Cawsey spoke briefly as a candidate for the Police Commission, urging relief of police officers from collection of taxes. He considered the staff to be over-worked, and appealed for support on his record as a police officer in Saanich.

WARD ONE MEETING

At the meeting in St. Aidan's Hall the same speakers gave similar addresses with the exception that Councillor Fred Borden discussed the affairs of Ward One.

The Saanich School Board addressed a public meeting at Tolmie School last night, the chair being taken by Trustee William Tomes. The chairman regretted the evident opposition to conversion of Tolmie School into a high school and denied that the scheme devised by the board was a patchwork.

Trustee W. P. Jeune said that the cost of the building programme would result in an addition of 50 cents annually to the tax bill of a ratepayer now contributing $10 yearly to Saanich. The extra tax would expire in fifteen years. The logical site for a high school was within the closely settled urban area, the trustee pointed out.

COST CUT IN HALF

Location of a high school at Royal C. K. would compel all students to pay transportation, and in addition the ratepayers would have to provide at least $100,000 instead of the $45,000 now sought, Trustee Jeune said.

Trustee D. Pyrie discussed the by-law providing for additions to Cloverdale and Tillamook schools. The former had classes in the basement and the latter was the fastest growing school in Saanich. Mr. Pyrie was satisfied that the scheme could not be improved at twice the cost.

REPORT SOON ON NEW BUTTER DUTY REQUEST

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—The Advisory Board on Tariff and Taxation, yesterday concluded its two-day hearing on the request of the National Dairy Council of Canada for an upward revision of the tariff schedule on butter and cheese and for an increase on the rates accorded to Australia and New Zealand under the provisions of the Canadian-Australian Trade Treaty of 1914.

The present preference rate to the Dominions is one cent a pound on butter and free entry for cheese. For the National Dairy Council, P. E. M. Robinson, president of that body, asked for a four-cent rate on butter and two cents on cheese.

Due to the reverse seasons, it was argued, New Zealand, to which the provisions of the treaty applied, was able to flood the Canadian market with butter shipments at a time when Canadian production was low. That, it was said, had the effect of depressing prices during a season when the Canadian dairymen logically looked for higher prices due to the reduction in their own output. This, among other things was tending to demoralize the industry and a stimulant was necessary, it was argued.

Mr. Robinson thought the proper corrective was a four-cent rate. Against these representations A. E. Barry of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, warned the dairymen of the dangers they ran in asking for protection. If they sought the imposition of a tariff on their own products they could hardly deny the same right to manufacturers.

GORGE GOLF CLUB BY-LAW

To the Editor:—I have been awaiting some comment on the items of the Gorge Vale Golf Club By-law, about to be voted on by the voters of Esquimalt. So far it has not been published as is the usual thing, and the only mention of it has been that the council approved it at one of their meetings. Roughly, the by-law provides that the assessment on the land for the next fifteen years shall be fixed at $50,000, and the assessment on all existing and contemplated improvements for the same period shall be $500. Assuming that the assessment on the land is the same as it has been heretofore, then the only new revenue that will accrue to the municipality will be the rate on the $500 assessment for improvements, viz. about $5 a year. I understand that the first unit for the clubhouse is to cost $15,000, and later on a further expenditure of a like amount is to be made.

Now, sir, if this were done for a new "used" industry, which may or may not bring a payroll with it, how do voters would howl, after the example set by Victoria with its expensive playthings? Yet the people are asked to allow this sport which fixes a commitment for a long period of time with no benefit at all to surrounding homeowners, but rather the prospect of a higher assessment on their own homes. Esquimalt is suffering enough as it is with its beer parlors, poor street car service, streets and sidewalks and other dead assets without pampering an organization that caters only to the upper strata of society and will no doubt be well able to pay the rate on the assessment of its properties on the same basis as the home-owner.

Let us hear from some of the interested property owners and members of the council. We want no hush, hush policy.

INTERESTED.

VICTORIA RADIO CLUB

To the Editor:—The Victoria Radio Club Inc., officially a club, wish to state that they are absolutely neutral as regard the local radio situation.

Our president has overstepped his authority in stating that the club is opposed to the petition now in circulation in the city. No meeting of either the executive or the club has been called to find out their views on the subject, and also there is a motion on the books to the effect that the secretary is the sole authorized person to send official communications to the press. Therefore, the club has not had a chance to discuss the matter. This letter is ordered by members of the executive to explain the situation.

As regards Gonzales Hill station, no recommendations were made at our last meeting. A committee was appointed to interview Superintendent Haughton as to whether or not it would be feasible to move the station to another location, as a radio engineer stated that for maximum efficiency a transmitter should be on low, swampy ground, in order to procure the best ground connection possible. Since Gonzales is on a rock pile, was wondered if it was technically efficient in that location.

As to the suggestion to sell the ground to help pay the expense of moving the equipment, that was just put forward as a means to an end, as it were.

No statements were made that the station was operated inefficiently, because we all know that the reverse is most certainly the case, and the radio branch of the Department of Marine and Fisheries has done its best to help radio reception.

So please note that all official communications from the Victoria Radio Club Inc. will be signed "Per the Secretary."

Bus Franchise Referendum

The B.C. Electric Railway Company is mailing to you to-night a statement in regard to the above referendum.

Please read it carefully before deciding how you will vote on Saturday.

It is proposed to give an Exclusive Franchise

to a comparatively inexperienced company, giving control of the whole of the bus transportation in the Municipality for a long period to one concern.

Such a franchise would seriously prejudice your existing street railway service and prevent any co-ordinated bus and street car service being given, as already offered, by the B.C. Electric Railway Company.

It is not necessary, at this time, to give such an exclusive franchise, and it is bad business to tie your hands by making a decision which may have far-reaching results of a most unsatisfactory character.

Dorothy Dix

"When the Newlyweds Fail to Hit It Off and Get Along Together It Is Nearly Always Because His Mother or Her Mother Is Standing on the Sidelines Promoting a Fight," Says Dorothy Dix

A DANIEL, a second Daniel came to judgment. A Canadian judge has achieved the impossible. He has done something that even the most optimistic believed could not be done. He has found a way to stop a meddling family from interfering in the affairs of a young married couple. A boy husband was arrested for beating his girl wife. At the trial it was shown that most of the trouble between the two was fomented by the man's mother, and in passing sentence the magistrate said: "I sentence you to two years in the reformatory with ten lashes twice during imprisonment, but I will suspend sentence on condition that you receive no advice or interference from your family. All that your own family has to do to send you to jail and give you the lash is to interfere in your affairs. If they do, back you come for sentence."

It is the mother who is the picture of the disaster that she will bring upon her son by stirring up trouble between him and his wife and make her refrain from telling him what she thinks about his wife and what a poor, imperfect creature she is and what he ought to do about it.

She will not like to visualize her darling boy languishing behind prison bars and having his tender flesh raw and bleeding from the merciless cut of a whip. Rather than have that happen to him, she will forego the pleasure of criticizing her daughter-in-law, but it takes an object lesson like that to make a mother see the harm she is doing and that in alienating her son from his wife and sowing discord between them and breaking up his home, she is doing him just as great a wrong and ruining his life just as much as if she sent him to a prison cell and to suffer the shame of the punishment of the wife-beater.

According to statistics, mothers-in-law are the champion home-wreckers and are at the bottom of more divorces than all other causes combined, and common observation shows that when the newlyweds fail to hit it off and get along together, it is nearly always because his mother or her mother is standing on the sidelines promoting the fight.

Left to themselves, Angelina and Augustus view each other through the rosy mists of love and never find out what a mistake they have made in picking each other out for husband and wife, and when they spot it as children do and the next minute they kiss and make up and forget it, and all is well.

But it is mother, who is far from being in love with her in-law, who is the source of the trouble. Angelina's eyes and makes her see what a poor family worm of the dust Augustus is or who awakens Augustus to the fact that Angelina has a million defects that he had not previously perceived. It is mother who fills Angelina and Augustus with suspicions of each other and who, when they quarrel, urges Angelina not to let herself be trampled upon and his Augustus stand firm and show that he is master of the house.

It is not too much to say that the favorite indoor sport of millions of mothers is picking out their in-laws. They take a fiendish and malicious joy in pointing out to their children every fault of those to whom they are married. It is mother who darkly wonders if Augustus really has to work at night during an emergency, as he says he did. It is mother who reminds Angelina that Augustus forgot to bring her flowers on her anniversary day. It is mother who opines that Augustus must be lacking in ambition, for he gets along so slowly. It is mother who criticizes Augustus' table manners and his grammar and the way he has of laughing at his own stories.

Angelina may know that Augustus is good and kind and honest and industrious and thought herself lucky enough to get him for a husband before mother began pointing out his shortcomings, but after mother has kept it up long enough she only sees his blemishes and wonders why she married him.

And it is the same way with Augustus. He doesn't know much about women nor how much their clothes should cost nor how many hours a day a wife should put in at home, and he never would have found out that Angelina was extravagant and that she played bridge when she should have been sitting in the kitchen watching the stock pot and that she gadded too much if mother hadn't told him all about it.

But by the time mother gets through pulling out all of Angelina's angel feathers he feels that she is a total loss as a wife and that he has drawn a blank in the matrimonial lottery.

Nor can mother keep her fingers out of her children's matrimonial pies and let them cook them up their own way and according to their own taste. She is bound to tell them how to do it and to try to force them to use her own recipe, with the result that "mother says" is the fighting word in thousands of households.

For there is nothing else on earth that infuriates a young wife like having her mother-in-law dictate to her about how she shall run her house and whether she shall use dollies or tablecloths or use her best china every day. And there is nothing that makes the young husband say things that bring on a grand family row like having his wife's mother back-scat chauffeur his home and to have mother's opinion flung continually in his teeth.

And the pitiful thing about these mothers who break up their children's homes and drive them to divorce is that they don't do it with deliberate malice. They are not trying to separate their children from their husbands and wives. They don't desire to see their grandchildren half-orphaned. When they criticize their in-laws they don't realize that they are doing their best to make them dissatisfied with their bargains. They don't even stop to think that when they kill their children's love for their husbands and wives they are bringing misery upon them.

What makes them interfere, then, in their children's matrimonial affairs? Jealousy, because they can't bear for their children to love anyone else better than they do them and because a mother just can't ever realize that her children grow up and she feels she has a right to run their lives for them as long as they live and because women just naturally like to meddle in other people's business anyway.

But it is a frightful price they pay for their fun. DOROTHY DIX. (Copyright by Public Ledger)

Sister Mary's Kitchen

By SISTER MARY

When you think there is nothing new under the sun, try combining veal and pork. So many women are dependent on beef, veal and pork for their meat supply that the monotony sometimes becomes overwhelming. Veal and pork are used together with excellent effect. Both the meats require thorough cooking, which means a long-time cooking process suitable for well done dishes. Veal lacks fat while pork is rich in this material. In this way, one meat supplements the other to produce a delicious whole. A breast of veal stuffed with bulk sausage or finely chopped lean pork gains richness of flavor. Chopped veal and pork combined with bread crumbs and "bound" with milk and egg make delicious patty-cakes for luncheon. Pork and veal en brochette is another inviting luncheon dish dependent on the combination for its flavor and delicacy. A meat loaf is more desirable made of the mixture of two meats than if made of one alone. The pork loaf is too rich and the veal loaf too dry and tasteless.

of veal is economical and interesting for a company dinner. ROLLED BREAST OF VEAL One breast of veal, 1 pound sausage meat or finely chopped pork, 1 cup rice, 1 tablespoon grated cheese, 1 large onion, 1 carrot, 1/2 turnip, parsley, thyme, bayleaf, peppercorns, salt and pepper. The seasonings are important. Sausage is usually well seasoned, so very little salt and pepper will be needed if it is used. If plain chopped pork is used, additional salt will be necessary. Remove bones and tendons from veal and trim neatly. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and spread evenly with pork. Roll tightly and bind with a stout cord. Put bones and trimmings of veal in kettle, add sliced vegetables, herbs, salt and pepper. Put roll of meat on top and add water to cover vegetables but not meat roll. Cover closely and simmer two hours. Baste meat frequently with stock in kettle and add water as necessary. Remove meat from kettle and strain stock. There should be three cups. Boil rice in salted water for fifteen minutes. Drain and pour several quarts of boiling water through rice. Drain. Return stock to kettle and bring to boiling point. When bubbling rapidly, add rice and meat and simmer, closely covered, until stock is absorbed. Remove meat and cut cord in several places. Unbind without disturbing shape. Arrange rice in a border on a hot platter, sprinkle with cheese and place roll of meat in the centre. Garnish with parsley and serve. The Thames river carries down into the North Sea enough mud yearly to make twenty-four acres of good land, six feet thick, at its mouth.

C.G.I. TRUST SEEKING WAY TO PAY DIVIDEND

Directors Now Have Plan For Consideration; Much Money
Loaned

Toronto, Jan. 16.—The Financial Post says that arrangements are now under consideration by the management of the first and second Canadian General Investment Trusts whereby it is hoped that the shareholders may be placed in possession of dividends which have been earned but which, owing to a certain provision in the Companies Act, were not paid on January 2, 1930, and December 15, 1929, respectively, as would normally have been the case.

Section seventy of the Companies Act provides that "no dividend shall be declared which will impair the capital of the company." When this enactment was placed on the statute books, it is pointed out, there were no investment trusts in existence in the Dominion, so that, though this specific class of company could not have been in the minds of the framers, it is nevertheless applicable to the management of the Canadian General Investment Trusts to know what course to pursue.

PLAN IS PREPARED

The lawyers of the company have given the matter due consideration and a plan has been prepared which will be submitted to the board of directors at a meeting which has been called to take place next Monday in Toronto. W. W. Evans, the president, is hopeful that the plan formulated will meet the requirements of the situation and that the shareholders may not be compelled long to remain without the increment they had expected.

When the Canadian General Investment Trusts were established, a strong position was taken by the management with regard to the aim and scope of these organizations. It was held that they should be more than mere buyers of bonds; that, on the contrary, the public should be given a cross-section of those issues which were best calculated to improve their position having regard to the future. With this object in view, investments were made in a great many preferred and common stocks in a variety of lines of enterprise.

SECURITY MAIN OBJECT

But always, the management maintained, the idea of security remained uppermost in the minds of those who were entrusted with the selection; and as a result, it is asserted, no organization of the kind has as its command a better portfolio of securities. It is not suggested that no mistakes were made (these are inseparable from any list that has about it the smallest measure of speculative risk), but it is contended that no less a proportion than ninety per cent of the securities purchased were bought with a view to permanent investment.

DECLINE CUTS CAPITAL

Though the capital of the company may have been impaired to some extent through the recent drastic decline in security values, the view is entertained that this is so only in a technical sense. The company, for example, has in its possession more than 10,000 shares of bank stocks, most of which were bought at a much higher level than is now prevailing. There are few who think of bank stocks in the light of a speculative risk, and yet, if these had to be sold, the sales doubtless could only be made at a material loss. Conversely, if so large a block of bank stocks had to be bought, advances of ten to twenty points in all issues would be the order of the day.

A great many rumors have been circulated in the street with respect to the Canadian General Investment Trusts, ever since the decision was reached to pass the dividends, but none of these have reflected in the smallest degree upon the strength or standing of the company. It has been hinted that reorganization of the finances was contemplated, but Mr. Evans remarked, when interviewed on the subject, that no refinancing was to be done, because none was necessary. The company has loaned as much money as it has borrowed.

Currently about the only problem which confronts the managements, aside from devising some means of legally paying dividends in the present situation, is to secure proper and profitable employment for its surplus funds. Much will depend upon the immediate trend of business and of the markets. If business remains in a comparatively contracted state and the security markets fail to develop added strength, nothing will be done, but if both alike meet with any degree of revival—and this can scarcely fail to be felt ere any great while, the future of the company is held to be most promising.

In the absence of Rev. Dr. W. J. Sipprell, who is now on a short vacation, Arthur Lee acted as chairman. The financial report, presented by John A. Grant, treasurer, showed a total income for the year 1929 of $20,789. Out of this amount the full allocation of $7,000 to the missionary and maintenance fund has already been sent to the treasurer in Toronto. E. W. Whittington the secretary, reported on the work of the session and official board. C. E. Sonley, chairman of stewards, reported a large number of meetings held, and told of the business transacted.

The Ladies' Aid activities were reported by Mrs. E. O. Weston. The Women's Missionary Society, Sunday school, Young People's Society and brotherhood also made short and encouraging reports.

Strawberry Vale

The Women's Auxiliary of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. H. A. Ireland on Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. S. Jones presiding. Installation of officers was postponed until next month. The Christian stewardship and temperance secretaries read selections. Mrs. G. Jones sang, accompanied by Mrs. Pringle. Mrs. W. Allison and Mrs. F. Harwood were appointed delegates to the Presbyterial.

Tea was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. A. Allison and Mrs. Harwood.

Keating

West Road and Keating basketball teams will meet on Saturday evening in the Temperance Hall to decide the holder of the silver cup now for competition between these two clubs. The winners will be the club having most points after the three games have been played, on Saturday evening. Keating gained seven-point lead over West Road in three games played in West Road Hall three weeks ago.

The first game will commence at 7.15 p.m., when the girls' teams will be seen in action. The intermediate men's game will be the second fixture which will be followed by the seniors game, which should be the feature of the evening. Refreshments will be served and dancing will follow. The line-up will be as follows:

West Road girls: Mary Feden, May Feden, Beunike Handy, Beale Armstrong, Isabel Alexander and Elsie Mathews.

Keating girls: Nellie Syran, Dot Bandle, Hilda Scott, Nora Scott, Alice Syran and Vera Handy.

West Road intermediates: Jack Lannon, P. Lannon, T. Feden, Arnold Bickford, Stan Bickford, W. Sluggett and Lawrence Butler.

Keating intermediates: Raymond Kersey, C. Cunningham, Leo Syran, G. Mitchell, S. Bate and M. Tubman.

West Road seniors: G. Lannon, M. Lannon, G. Parrot, Claude Sluggett, Clarence Sluggett and N. Andrews.

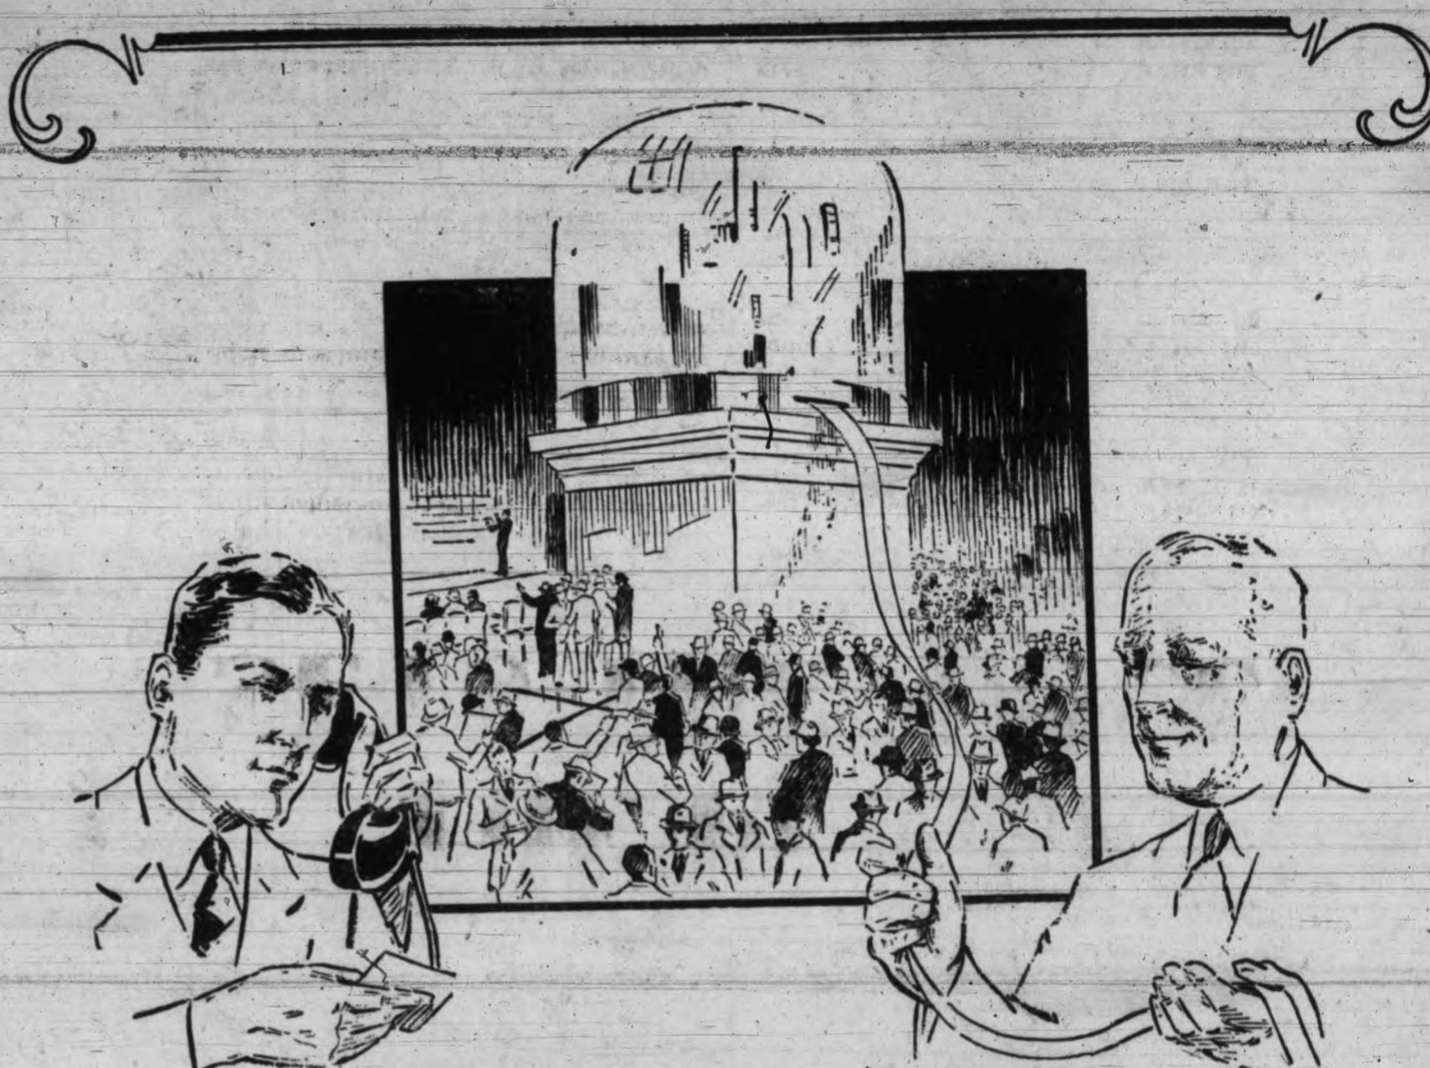

Keating seniors: R. Emmert, R. Mitchell, M. Atkinson, F. Sutton, Marchant, W. Bate and T. Mitchell.

The South Saanich Farmers' Institute will hold their monthly meeting in the Temperance Hall this evening January 16. The speaker will be W. E. Downes, provincial entomologist, who will speak on the beneficial insects.

The January meeting of the South Saanich Women's Institute will be held in the Temperance Hall this evening. Miss Ida Meyer presided at the meeting of the South Saanich Young People's Club, held in the club rooms on Monday evening. Miss Bertha Sluder led the devotional period. An address on "Trinidad" was given by Rev. M. W. Lees. The club will attend the Young People's New Year Rally in Centennial Church on Friday evening. Those desiring to attend are requested to be at the local church at 7.15 o'clock. The Young People's meeting, scheduled for next Monday, was cancelled as the annual banquet of Sidney and South Saanich congregation will be held at Sidney on Tuesday evening.

THE PUBLIC SETS THE PRICE

A RECORD development and progress of every industry in British Columbia is the achievement of 1929. Public interest in these events was manifest on the Vancouver Stock Exchange. In 1929 $129,748,630 worth of shares were bought and sold on the Vancouver Stock Exchange.

Such a volume of business requires an almost perfect system. The operation is governed by the laws of supply and demand. Buying and selling orders meet on the "floor". These orders set the price, and the Public controls the orders. The trading concerns securities of known value, and these securities represent undertakings on the threshold of a great era of industrialization of Western Canada.

No undertaking can list its securities on the Exchange without passing an examination as to management, capitalization and property assets. First principles of Stock Exchange operation are alike in London, New York and Vancouver, and are strictly adhered to. The Vancouver Stock Exchange, as an institution, owns no stock in any enterprise . . . sponsors no stock flotation . . . favors no broker . . . expresses no opinions about individual stocks. It accepts no responsibility for rise and fall of prices.

No progressive country, looking to its industries and natural resources for the production of National Wealth can be without a Stock Exchange. Like electricity, water, roads, transportation it ranks as a Public Service, disinterested, neutral.

The purpose is to make trading efficient, to broadcast prices instantly from the "Floor". Like a mirror, the Exchange reflects Public activity and industrial progress. The Public, through its orders and instructions, does the trading and sets the price. And the Exchange lives up to the ideal, expressed in its charter passed by Provincial Parliament in 1907, as long as it fulfills in every way the duties given it to perform.

This advertisement is published by Members of the Vancouver Stock Exchange in order to disseminate information concerning the functions of a Stock Exchange and the Business of Buying and Selling Securities.
